Holdup Of Store Nets $98

Suspect Nabbed And 'Identified'

A 32-year-old man was held by Lincoln police on an open charge Monday night in connection with the theft of $98 at knife point from the Vic Groh Liquor Store at 204 So. 9 at 5:34 p.m. Monday afternoon.

Police said the man was picked up by Patrolman Owen Robb at 10th and P Streets on the basis of a description given by Mrs. Groh, the clerk in the store at the time of the robbery—which was furnished all police officers.

According to police, the man was identified by Mrs. Groh at 9:30 p.m. as the man who held her up.

The man was not armed when he was picked up, but he had "quite an amount of money" in his possession, police reported.

The man was described by Mrs. Marjorie Groh, who was taking care of the counter at the time, as short with a red mustache, wearing a tan hunting cap and jacket and about 130-140 pounds.

Mrs. Groh, who was still badly shaken when police arrived, said the man "came close to the counter and stuck a knife straight at me. He had something—a blackjack, it looked like—and said 'get in the register, and hurry up.'"

She said she ran next door and phoned from the next-door restaurant after he had left.

Lincoln Police, including traffic patrolmen, immediately put a cordon around the area and searched the neighboring railroad yards.

The exact amount of money lost was $98.

Vic Groh and his wife live at 843 So. 10. Groh said that he returned to the store only minutes after the holdup had taken place.

when a Burlington freight car being pushed by a switch engine collided with the Gray car.

Mrs. Gray was employed at the State Hospital.

The auto and train finally stopped approximately 150 feet north of the crossing, with the car resting on the tracks.

The completely demolished vehicle was crossing the track going south of Folsom.

Gray said he did not see the train, which was approaching from the southwest until it was about eight feet from the car.

"What could I do?" Gray asked in a strained voice.

Gave Signal

C. W. Steelman, foreman, who was riding atop the freight car, when the fatal accident occurred, said he gave the signal to stop when he saw the car.

The engineer of the train was W. B. Waybright.

Help was called when the trainmen at the switch engine relayed word of the accident to the Burlington roundhouse.

Gray said he was returning home after looking at houses with his wife. Gray had suffered another misfortune only a little more than a week ago when fire destroyed most of his home. The Grays had been living in the basement.

Lincoln Police and Deputy Sheriff Bob Anderson both rushed to the scene of the accident and assisted carrying the Grays along the railroad tracks into awaiting ambulances.

Met By Family

Gray was met by his daughter and her family at the hospital. Conscious but in shock, Gray had helped at the scene of the wreck. He was taken to the daughter's home for the night.

Mrs. Gray had been a resident of Lincoln for approximately two years.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. William French of 208 C and Mrs. B. W. Haggard, Mrs. L. L. McArthur, Mrs. M. H. Nixon and Mrs. H. D. Johnson, all of Little Rock, Ark.; a stepdaughter, Betty Tribell, Little Rock, Ark.; a stepson, J. W. Gray, Little Rock, Ark.; three sisters, Mrs. Jay Creamer, Texarkana, Ark.; Mrs. P. Harris, Malvern, Ark.; and Esther, Texarkana, Ark.; a brother, Harvey Chatum, Texarkana, Ark.; and eight grandchildren.

The death was the 29th auto fatality in Nebraska this year, compared to 235 at this time in 1952.

Harry Truman Levels Charge Of 'Shameful Demagoguery' At GOP

... Ex-President Says Public Security Protected; Investigation Went Ahead

From Press Dispatches

KANSAS CITY, —

Harry S. Truman said Monday night he knew of disloyalty charges against the late Harry Dexter White, but decided to retain him in the government service in order not to endanger an FBI investigation.

Speaking before a nationwide radio and TV audience to "answer all the questions" in the White case controversy, the former President also leveled a charge of "shameful demagoguery" against the present administration.

It was Attorney General Herbert Brownell who set off the first blast 10 days ago in Chicago. He said White was known as a Communist spy "by the very people who appointed him to the most sensitive and important position he ever held in government."

Truman declared Brownell's charge was "phony," that it was "false," and Brownell "must have known it was false at the very time he was making it."

Taking up the White matter in detail, the former President said a lengthy FBI report on alleged subversive activities in this country was sent to the White House in December, 1945.

"The report contained many names of persons in and out of government service concerning whom there were then unverified accusations," Truman said. "Among the many names mentioned, I now find, was that of Harry Dexter White, who had been in the Treasury Department for many years and who was at that time an assistant secretary of the Treasury."

He said as best as he could determine "I first learned of the accusations against White early in February, 1946, when an FBI report specifically discussing the activities of Harry Dexter White was brought to my attention."

He added the report "showed that serious accusations had been made against White, but it pointed out that it would be practically impossible to prove those charges with the evidence then at hand."

Truman said he sent a copy of the report to the late Fred Vinson, then secretary of the Treasury, and later discussed it with Secretary Vinson as well as with Secretary of State James Byrnes.

He added he learned White's long-planned appointment as a U.S. member of the Board of Executive Directors of the International Monetary Fund, had been confirmed by the Senate before he saw Byrnes and Vinson.

Consulted With Clark

He said Vinson consulted with Attorney General Tom Clark, now a Supreme Court Justice, and other government officials at his (Truman's) request.

"When the results of these consultations were reported to me," Truman said, "the conclusion was reached that the appointment be allowed to take its normal course. The final responsibility for this decision, of course, was mine."

He said hundreds of FBI agents were investigating charges of subversion against many accused persons, and that "it was of the greatest importance to the nation that this investigation be continued in order to prove or disprove these charges and to determine if still other persons were implicated."

White died in 1948, shortly after he appeared before the House Un-American Activities Committee and denied charges of Communist ties. The charges were made by former Soviet agents Whittaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley.

The course the administration took, Truman said, "protected the public interest and security and, at the same time, permitted the intensive FBI investigation then in progress to go forward. No other course could have served both of these purposes."

Turns Fire On Brownell

He then turned his verbal guns on the present administration, particularly Attorney General Brownell.

He said "it was clear" the administration "has distorted a decision that enabled an investigation of great importance to proceed—as it did—unhindered, and with ample safeguard to the public interest, into an alleged harboring of Communists. This is shameful demagoguery."

Brownell, he declared, "has degraded the highest function of government—the administration of justice—into cheap political trickery."

"The attorney general of the United States," he continued, "has not only degraded his office, he has deceived his chief as to what he proposed to do. And in saying, 'Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him,'

"He lied to the American people. In backing away from this charge with the mealy-mouthed statement that he had no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration, he lied to the American people again."

"If this were a matter which merely involved the name and reputation of Harry Truman, private citizen of Independence, Missouri," he said, "I would not be as concerned as I am. I can take care of myself."

Declaring there is one aspect of this affair that should be clear to everyone, Truman said "that is the obvious political motivation of this attack on me. In launching this attack the Republican attorney general worked hand in glove with the Republican National Committee. The manner and the time of what has been done makes it perfectly clear that the powers of the attorney general have been prostituted for hopes of political gain. No election is worth so much."

It Has New Meaning

"It is now evident," Truman said, "that the present administration has fully embraced for political advantage McCarthyism."

He added he was not referring to the senator from Wisconsin, saying "he is only important in that his name has taken on a dictionary meaning in the world. 'It is the corruption of truth, the abandonment of our historical devotion to fair play,' Truman said."

"It is the abandonment of the 'due process' of law. It is the use of the big lie and the unfounded accusation against any citizen in the name of Americanism or security. It is the rise to power of the demagogue who lives on untruth: it is the spread of fear and the destruction of faith in every level of our society."

As to his refusal to appear before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Truman said he declined to appear before that committee because if he had done so "I would have been a party to the committee to an action which would have undermined the constitutional position of the office of President of the United States."

Truman said it is just as important "to the independence of the Executive that the actions of the President should not be subjected to questioning by the Congress after he has completed his term of office as that they should not be questioned while he is in service as President."

Vaccine Test For Polio To Begin Feb. 8

NEW YORK (AP)—The crucial test of a new polio vaccine will start Feb. 8 with shots for up to one million school children in the second grade.

Only second-graders in some 200 selected counties will get the vaccine, which shows every promise of protecting safely against polio, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Monday.

The answer whether polio at last has been conquered won't be known until sometime in 1955. The test will discover whether vaccinated children get less paralytic polio—or no polio—than unvaccinated children or children in the first and third grades.

The vaccine is one developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh. Each batch of vaccine will be triple-tested for safety.

All vaccinations—a series of three shots for each youngster—must be completed by June 1, before the polio season starts, said Basil O'Connor, Foundation president.

Counties and states for the tests still are being selected, and cannot be disclosed yet, O'Connor said. The vaccinations will start "in one or more counties of the South."

Consent Needed

Children in second grades range in age from 6½ to 8.

Youngsters, public, private and parochial schools will be eligible. Parents must give written consent. In each county, local health physicians will be in charge of vaccinations, given by local physicians at school clinics.

The vaccine will be limited to second-graders for two reasons. One, they have the second highest attack rate from polio—70 per 100,000 population. (Children of first-grade school age have the highest rate, 84 per 100,000.)

Also, using second-graders permits comparison with first and third-graders who had been in school at the same time and then faced normal exposure to polio during the summer.

The nationwide trials will cost the foundation $7,500,000.

Dr. Salk's vaccine uses polio virus grown in test tubes on monkey kidney tissue. The virus then is carefully killed by a chemical, formalin. All three types of virus which cause human polio are incorporated in the vaccine.

Ashland Water Line Plans, Specifications, Estimate OKd

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Plans and specifications with a $3.8 million estimate have been approved by the City Council for construction of the new 48-inch water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln.

And in separate action, the Council approved bids totaling $74,942 for other phases of the overall water system improvement program. This work consists of a $3,348 replacement well at the Ashland supply field and four new pumps at the A Street pumping station.

In the transmission line specifications, an effort was made to place the bidding as nearly as possible on a dollar-for-dollar competitive basis. To clarify the city's position and leave nothing for debate after receipt of bids, bidders will receive with specifications a letter from City Engineer D. L. Erickson in which all types of permitted pipe line construction are placed on an equal basis.

Specifications will allow bids to be submitted on either pre-stressed or not pre-stressed concrete, cast iron or steel pipe. Erickson's letter states that "in my opinion, these several specified types of pipe line construction are a near to being of equal value to the city of Lincoln for the purpose for which they will be installed as could be designed, taking into consideration the characteristics and qualities of various materials and the loads and stresses involved."

Also taken out of the specifications was the opportunity for bidders to name their own completion date. All bidders must agree to a completion date of not later than April 15, 1955 and be able to show their ability to complete the job by that time. The specifications were strengthened in another section which caused delay in the letting of a contract on the new 5 million gallon reservoir at the 51st Street station.

Specifications on the pipe line not only prohibit two bids from one firm but state that two proposals received from two or more corporations controlled by the same person or group or which have interlocking directorates or officers shall be in violation of the terms of the section.

Bids will be received on the line on Dec. 10. The city will claim liquidated damages of $1,000 per day for each day the contractor carries the project beyond the April 15 completion date.

Two of the pumps will be used as replacements inside the station and will provide a 19 million gallon per day capacity in place of the existing 8 million gallon per day pumps. The other two pumps will be installed next to two A Street reservoirs. Those pumps are 9 million gallons capacity per day each and will be used to feed water into the new 24-inch main in A Street serving southeast Lincoln.

In connection with the pumps, a $17,500 bid was accepted from the Electric Machine Manufacturing Co. for furnishing starter and control equipment. Olson and Sons of Oakland, Neb., were awarded the contract for construction of the replacement well at Ashland.

Friend Grange Wins Contest, $15,000 Prize

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—The Friend, Neb., Grange Monday night won a $15,000 cash award for placing first in a nationwide Grange community service contest.

The Friend Grange, with 131 members, gave their town a total of 8,365 hours—an average of 64 hours—to complete 24 projects, ranging from promotion of better relations between the town businessmen and their rural neighbors to clearing brush and trees to eliminate 22 blind corners which were accident hazards.

A total of 3,400 Granges were entered in the annual contest. The Friend Grange won second prize of $3,000 last year, and also the top award for small Granges.

OMAHA (AP)—Rural electric co-operative officials from 10 Missouri River Basin states Monday voted to seek an injunction to halt the new federal power marketing criteria from going into effect Jan. 1, 1954.

Then the group, meeting here for the second time within a month, voted to take the initial step in formation of a nationwide organization of electrical consumers.

The same group met here Oct. 22 and voted to ask postponement of the power criteria. Virgil T. Hanlon, manager of the East River Electric Power Co-operative, Madison, S. D., took the request to President Eisenhower. Hanlon and other representatives of the group that met in Washington described what they called "confusion" in the Interior Department and the Rural Electrification Administration about the new criteria.

Hanlon said their request for postponement of the effective date of the criteria was nullified when REA administrator Archer Nelson "reported to the President at this meeting that he and Aandahl (Assistant Interior Secretary Fred Aandahl) had talked this situation over and that everything will be all right."

The criteria would permit private power companies to contract for power generated by the big Missouri River projects now under construction for 20 years without provision for reclaiming of the power for use of preference—public power—customers when needed. Increased rates and additional power costs under the new criteria have also been objected to by the REA groups.

It was announced at the close of Monday's meeting that William C. Wise, former assistant REA administrator, and Lawrence P. Pott, both of Washington, had been named as attorneys for the group in its legal moves against the criteria.

Truman Speech Reaction Runs Along Partisan Line; Ferguson Not Satisfied

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.), following former President Truman on the air Monday night, said Truman had failed to answer several questions about the Harry Dexter White affair.

Ferguson also asserted that Truman had carefully refrained from mentioning the name of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, while claiming White was left in a government job to avoid interfering with an FBI investigation.

He also said Truman's speech indicated the former President had used the Senate of the United States "as a decoy," by permitting the Senate to confirm White's appointment to the board of the International Monetary Fund without letting the Senate know about an unfavorable FBI report on White.

Ferguson was asked if, as chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, he knew of any basis for Truman's charge that the speech by Attorney General Brownell, accusing Truman of ignoring the FBI report in appointing White, was timed for its political effect.

"Certainly none that I knew of," Ferguson replied, adding: "I know of nothing today that was used in this timing."

Partisan-Line Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell withheld his answer Monday night to former President Truman's charge that Brownell had degraded the administration of justice "into cheap political trickery" in the Harry Dexter White case.

Other immediate reaction to the Truman speech in Kansas City, in which he outlined his actions in the White case, ran along partisan lines.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), chairman of the Internal Security Subcommittee, which will hear Brownell Tuesday, said:

"The Internal Security Subcommittee is interested only in facts and is not concerned with political byplay. We intend to make a complete record in the night. The former President was in a more serious mood as he repeated his statements for the newsreels. (AP Wirephoto Monday Night.)

White case and other cases in the same careful manner in which our subcommittee has always operated, and let Congress and the American people be the judge of what the true facts are."

Rep. Moulder (D-Mo) member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said Truman gave "an honest and sincere crystal clear statement of the facts and an answer to the scurrilous and insulting political smear against him and the Democratic Party."

In Philadelphia, Rep. Velde (R-Ill.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee that unsuccessfully subpoenaed Truman to testify on the White case, said:

"A typical smear attack on investigating committees... certain portions of the speech were obviously written by the Democratic ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) crowd."

"Mr. Truman is shadow boxing—defending himself against accusations of treason which Mr. Brownell never made."

Apology

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) declared: "I think the former President had laid to rest whatever doubts may have resulted from the spurious Brownell charge."

An apology from Mr. Brownell now would be most appropriate—not only to the former President but to the present President and the American people."

Leonard W. Hall, Republican National Chairman, said:

"If Mr. Truman's statement that the Republican National Committee 'worked hand in glove' with Mr. Brownell is representative of the truth of the balance of Mr. Truman's presentation then no reliance whatsoever can be put on anything in the former President's explanation. The truth is that the Republican National Committee had no knowledge of any kind whatsoever of Mr. Brownell's speech until 10 minutes before its release."

Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), another member of the Un-American Activities Committee, said he thought Truman made "a concise and detailed evaluation of the situation to the best of his ability."

Ike Promises: 'T-H Act Will Be Changed' CIO Convention Listens Silently

CLEVELAND (AP) — President Eisenhower pledged the CIO convention Monday that his proposals for amending the Taft-Hartley act will be fair to labor, management and the public alike.

In a letter to the 700 delegates the President said he would submit suggested changes stemming from the administration's months-long study of the law to Congress in January.

He added: "In formulating these suggestions, our guide will be the fundamental principle that the law must be absolutely fair to the laboring men and women of the nation, to management, and to the public at large."

The message was read at the afternoon session of the convention's first day, only a couple of hours after CIO President Walter P. Reuther lambasted the Eisenhower administration's tax program as "the big steal." Delegates listened attentively to the President's message but afterwards had neither applause nor cheers.

The CIO as well as virtually all other organized labor, has battled the Taft-Hartley act constantly, since it went into effect in 1947. It calls the law repressive, discriminatory against labor and partial to management. Mr. Eisenhower noted that he had "previously stated my conviction that this law, while fundamentally sound, should be changed in some respects."

Pollution Halt Enforceable, Rogers Warns

The federal government has authority by act of Congress to step in and force a municipality to cease polluting an interstate stream, Dr. E. A. Rogers of the State Health Department said Monday.

This is why, he explained, that Nebraska and other states along the Missouri River have urged their river cities to come forward by next July with some definite plans about what they intend to do to bring about abatement of this pollution.

Seven Nebraska cities were notified formally of this in a letter sent out from the State Health Department Nov. 1 after a representative of the department had visited each city late in the summer to discuss the situation with officials.

"We don't want to sit back and do nothing, so the federal government steps in and forces us to take action," Dr. Rogers commented.

"Everyone agrees that something should be done, it's just a matter of getting something started," he added.

Owen Cotton, secretary of the Association of Omaha Taxpayers, recently challenged the authority to force a city to stop dumping in the river.

"I think he misunderstood the intent of the letter. Omaha city officials told us they knew it was coming and were surprised it hadn't come sooner," Dr. Rogers commented.

He said pollution studies of the river had shown the degree of pollution to be far above acceptable standards for water that is to be used for drinking purposes.

News Around The Globe

Allies May Change Views

PANMUNJOM (Tuesday) (NS)—The United States today offered to recommend that Allied opposition to neutral nation participation in the Korea peace conference be reconsidered if the conference goes down without neutrals in attendance.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean made the proposal as Allied and Communist diplomatic teams met at Panmunjom to debate the question of time, place and location of the conference.

A subcommittee meeting at the same time heard a Communist proposal that the conference be held at Panmunjom with India, Burma, Pakistan, Indonesia and Soviet Russia attending as "neutrals."

Gen. Wood Retiring

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Robert E. Wood announced Monday he will retire April 28 as chairman of the board of Sears Roebuck & Co. after a 30-year career with the world's largest mail order house. He will be succeeded by Theodore V. Houser, 61, now vice chairman. Wood is 74.

The change-over will be made officially at the company's annual meeting in New York in April.

Stephenson Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Washington sociologist who played a leading role in planning the big inaugural show for President Eisenhower last January was indicted Monday on charges of lying when he denied trying to peddle influence for a fee.

A federal grand jury returned a three-count indictment against Warren L. Stephenson, 53, who served as executive secretary of the Eisenhower inaugural committee.

POW Talks Halt

PANMUNJOM (Tuesday) (AP)—The Communists abruptly switched signals in the pre-dawn darkness of the prisoners of war they wanted to interview today and forced the troubled explanations into a new stall.

The explanations had resumed only yesterday after a 10-day freeze. Nettled by the Red switch, the Indian command refused to call up any prisoners and canceled explanations for today.

Bergson Is Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herbert A. Bergson, an assistant attorney general in the Truman administration, was indicted Monday on a charge of violating a law restricting the activities of former government lawyers. He promptly accused Atty. Gen. Brownell of "reckless disregard of his sworn duty" in bringing about the prosecution.

The law under which Bergson was indicted makes it a misdemeanor for a former federal employee, within two years after leaving government service, to prosecute any claims against the government involving any matter with which he was connected while working for the government.

Fund Transfer Gets Started

BEATRICE, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—The controversy over disposition of overtime parking funds between the Beatrice school board and the City of Beatrice became more serious Monday as City Treasurer Troy Ward began transferring city funds under his control from the Beatrice National Bank to another Beatrice bank.

The move had been threatened by Ward last week when he told W. W. Cook, vice president and cashier of the Beatrice National Bank and president of the school board, to "get out of the parking meter business or his bank would lose the funds."

Ward transferred more than $10,000 of the school fund Monday and said he would follow up by transferring more. Ward is treasurer of the school board.

Special Board Meet

The Beatrice Board of Education countered Monday afternoon after a special meeting by ordering all subsequent parking meter funds impounded by the city treasurer and kept separate pending settlement of their disposition.

In a blistering statement to the press Monday, Treasurer Troy Ward said, "Mr. Cook has plenty to do without causing all of this turmoil and dissatisfaction among citizens of the community."

In a reply to Ward's statement Monday afternoon, W. W. Cook said "The Beatrice National Bank takes no stand on this matter one way or another. I am acting only in my capacity as president of the Beatrice Board of Education."

"The school board takes no stand on what amounts parking fines should be paid. That has nothing to do with the issue at hand. I am sorry that personalities are being injected into this difference of opinion. I only want the schools to get what is justly due them."

One out of three is a depression year!

It may surprise you, as it did me, to learn that, between the first great depression in 1819 and the last sharp recession in 1937, the U.S. economy has been in a declining or subnormal state approximately one year out of every three.

Yet here is the record of our depression years, as published by the Brookings Institute:

1819-21.....	24 months
1825-26.....	12 months
1833-34.....	2 months
1837-43.....	72 months
1857-58.....	18 months
1866-67.....	18 months
1873-78.....	66 months
1882-85.....	36 months
1890-91.....	9 months
1892-97.....	45 months
1907-08.....	12 months

James A. Childs of 1035 J St. reported to police that a total of $321 in watches and coins of old vintage, along with his discharge papers and automobile insurance were stolen from his apartment.

Childs said that the theft occurred during the night, and that the burglar jimmied a window frame to gain entrance. The watches included two wrist watches and a stopwatch.

Charges Facing 3 Sioux City Councilmen Listed In Court

SIoux CITY, Ia. (AP)—Specific charges that three Sioux City councilmen engaged in improper conduct of city affairs were read in District Court here Monday when the councilmen appeared on conspiracy indictments returned by the Woodbury County grand jury.

The three are Safety Superintendent Nicholas O'Millnik; Finance Superintendent Clem Evans and Parks Superintendent Drew Fletcher. They appeared with Mark Sabel, Sioux City fruit dealer, who also was named in one of the indictments. All waived arraignment and were given until Nov. 27 to enter pleas.

'Protection Money'

In a separate action before the District Court, Sabel and five tavern operators here are under indictment on charges of conspiracy to pay protection money to Sabel, whose home was partly destroyed by a black powder bomb explosion last September.

It was disclosed before Judge L. B. Forsling that O'Millnik and Sabel were named in one indictment specifically charging that they interfered with the sale of fire engines, traffic control equipment and parking meters, that they interfered with the issuance of beer permits, that they granted immunity for violations of the liquor laws and interfered with promotions and pay raises in the fire department.

'Bookkeeping Fees'

Another indictment in which Evans and Fletcher were named alleged that Evans used his office to conspire with five other persons to receive commissions and bonuses—specifically bookkeeping fees—in consideration of letting public contracts and that Fletcher conspired to accept "gratuities" in the sale and purchase of equipment for the parks and public buildings division. Statements were issued Monday by Sioux City Mayor Ralph Henderson and the three councilmen. Henderson said he never has had cause to suspect any wrong doing in council affairs and he hoped the three members would be cleared. O'Millnik, Evans and Fletcher, all said they had no intention of resigning.

The grand jury earlier indicted Hyman B. Zelen, Lincoln, Neb., and the Duncan Parking Meter Corp., Chicago, which Zelen represents, on a charge of conspiring to sell parking meters to the city without lawful bidding.

Rinso Guide to Soaps and Detergents

These helpful directions explain for the first time which to use for every job. Presented by Rinso, the only brand to offer you both—famous Rinso Soap and sensational new Rinso Detergent.

BLANKETS: Use the Soap
Blankets shouldn't stay in your washer more than a minute: agitation while wet shrinks them. Rinso Soap removes a lot of dirt fast—and leaves your blankets soft and fluffy! Yet you now pay about 3¢ less for it than for detergents.

CURTAINS: Use either
As long as you make plenty of suds, either product will do a beautiful job of washing your curtains. Both Rinso Soap and Rinso Detergent get curtains dazzling white—for an interesting reason. Both Rinsos contain SOLIUM.

DIAPERS: Use the Soap
One safe way to be careful of baby's tender skin is to use only soap for washing diapers and all baby clothes. The mild, gentle soap in Rinso Soap leaves diapers extra soft and non-irritating. The SOLIUM leaves them white as snow!

DISHES, GLASSWARE: Use Detergent
Everybody knows detergents do a better job on your dishes than soap. But this new Rinso Detergent does even more—it washes up to twice as many dishes as the most popular detergent, and is wonderfully gentle to your hands.

DRESSES: Use either
Your white dresses look whiter than new, print dresses brighter than new, washed in Rinso Soap or Rinso Detergent—thanks to the SOLIUM. Rinso's rich suds remove dirt so efficiently that most stains need hardly any pre-scrubbing.

LINOLEUM: Use the Detergent
If the linoleum is really dirty, use a detergent to get it clean before you wax. Rinso Detergent suds are particularly good for removing greasy or sticky stains from your kitchen linoleum. Use as little water as possible.

WORK CLOTHES: Use either
Choose either Rinso for doing work clothes. Rinso Detergent is exceptionally good in hard water, and you don't have to rinse unless you want to. Rinso Soap gets out slightly more dirt, and you now pay about 3¢ less for the Soap.

SHIRTS: Use either
Your husband's shirts will turn out gloriously clean and white, washed with Rinso Soap or new Rinso Detergent. We guarantee he'll be delighted. The SOLIUM in these two extraordinary Rinsos will give him the whitest shirts ever.

SYNTHETIC FABRICS: Use either
You can safely wash almost any fabric in the friendly suds of Rinso Soap or Rinso Detergent. Not only your cottons, but also the new synthetic fabrics. They'll all be perfectly at home in gentle, thorough-cleansing Rinso.

TOWELS: Use either
Your white towels will be whiter than new—and every bit as fluffy—washed in either the Soap or the Detergent. Why? Because both Rinsos are perfect beavers for getting out dirt. What's more, both Rinsos contain SOLIUM.

WOOL SWEATERS & SOCKS: Use Soap
If you want your wool sweaters and socks to stay soft, wash them in soap suds. Home economists will tell you that washing with Rinso Soap removes less of the natural oil from the wool, and this helps keep it soft and fluffy.

SHEETS: Use either
The truth is that either the Soap or the Detergent will do your sheets to perfection. Both Rinsos contain SOLIUM, to leave your sheets white as can be. And both leave sheets so soft and smooth, you only have to iron the top quarter.

SAVE at least 3¢ ON SOAP!

Your grocer now has Rinso Soap on sale at special low prices so you save more than ever!

SOAP—in the big Green Package

DETERGENT—in the Green and Yellow Package

Only one name to remember—RINSO

TODAY you need remember only one magic name for the finest of soaps and the best of detergents—Rinso! It's all so simple and easy. Your grocer now has Rinso in both forms—soap and detergent.

Why do we make both? Because homemakers who insist on perfection are convinced that soap is definitely better for some jobs, detergent for others. Our scientists agree—and they proudly guarantee that the finest soap and detergent you can buy today both have the same name on the box: Rinso!

Each Rinso is the best in its class. Each contains SOLIUM. Each will do a terrific job for you. You can't go wrong if the name is Rinso!

Rinso Soap comes in the familiar green box. Rinso Detergent comes in a new green and yellow box. (The soap will cost you about 3 cents less.)

They are both great products, guaranteed up to the hilt by Lever Brothers Company, New York 22, N.Y.

RINSO SOAP and RINSO DETERGENT

By LARRY HALL.
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Tight-lipped jurors heard in grim detail Monday how the kidnap killers of little Bobby Greenlease plotted and executed their shocking crime.

The father of the boy, Robert C. Greenlease Sr., looked on from a front row seat as the U.S. District Attorney Edward L. Scheffler read the confession of Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old divorcee.

The government has asked the death penalty for Mrs. Heady and her partner in crime, Carl Austin Hall, a 34-year-old warehouseman who threw away a fortune on his downward slide into crime. Both Hall and Mrs.

Heady have pleaded guilty. All the jury has to decide is whether they live or die.

Mrs. Heady's long, detailed confession was read in a jammed but silent courtroom. Women spectators narrowed their eyes and shook their heads at some of the revelations.

Planned Slaying
Greenlease bowed his head at times, fighting for emotional control.

In the sordid story, Mrs. Heady told how she and her lover, Hall, planned to kill little Bobby even before they snatched him from his exclusive private school here Sept. 28. They dug his grave and rehearsed the crime the day before, she said.

The boy was picked up on a ruse. Mrs. Heady claimed she was his aunt and wanted to take him to his mother, suddenly taken ill.

Once they had the boy in her station wagon, unsuspecting and not at all reluctant to go with them, they drove to a Kansas wheatfield near Kansas City. While Hall went to the back of the car and laid out a plastic sheet, Mrs. Heady walked away. While she was gone she heard two shots.

Then her confession states: "I then realized Carl had actually killed the victim by shooting him, although it was originally planned he would strangle him with a small piece of rope he had in the station wagon."

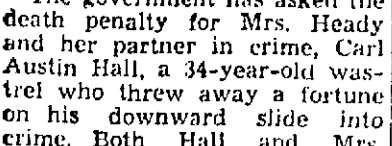

On their way back to St. Joseph to bury the body, they stopped at a tavern and had a few drinks.

First Demand
At Mrs. Heady's home, Hall carried the body to the shallow grave, put the plastic sheeted body into the trench, covered it with lime and shoveled in some dirt.

Then he left for Kansas City to mail the first ransom demand, leaving Mrs. Heady to fill in the rest of the grave. She said she had a hard time with the job.

After that Mrs. Heady's recollections trailed off in an alcoholic haze, through Hall's various telephone contacts with the Greenlease family, collection of $800,000 ransom in $10 and $20 bills and their flight to St. Louis. They were arrested there Oct. 6 on a tip from a cab driver that Hall was spending money fast in a drunken spree.

Strange Words

Joseph C. Harsch, who succeeded Roscoe Drummond as a special correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor in Washington, is looked upon by his associates in the newspaper business as an exceedingly capable, far-sighted man.

These are strange words, then, with which Mr. Harsch undertakes to interpret the news behind the news in connection with the Brownell speech in Chicago.

"We are, I think, witnessing in the Brownell-White-Truman case the first major disturbance cast up onto the political surface by a massive struggle now developing within the Republican party. This struggle is based upon an assumption which may or may not be valid: The assumption that President Eisenhower does not intend to be a candidate to succeed himself." Mr. Harsch proceeds on the assumption that no one, not even Mr. Eisenhower himself, can be sure that he will not be a candidate in 1956. Events and changed conditions could cause him to change his mind.

But proceeding on the theory that Mr. Eisenhower does not plan to run in 1956, Harsch adds this:

"The political effect of the Brownell move in the White case was to challenge, on behalf of the Dewey forces, Sen. McCarthy's leading position in the party up to that time (Brownell's Chicago speech) in anti-Communism. Employing military terminology, this was a move to outflank and capture Sen. McCarthy's near-monopoly in the party of the anti-Communist cause."

If Mr. Harsch has the dope straight, then the American people have even greater reason to be fed up with the current controversy. They are not interested in the slightest in the intra-party politics—not interested in whether Brownell outflanks McCarthy or McCarthy outflanks Brownell.

It is much too high a price to pay at any time for amusing entertainment.

Vinson Gave Advice On White Retention

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower probably never would have permitted his attorney-general to open up the dynamite-laden Harry Dexter White case had he known that the most important person involved was his old friend, the late Chief Justice of the United States, Fred M. Vinson. Furthermore, Brownell, who must have known that Vinson was involved, probably would not have opened up the case had Vinson been alive.

Careful sifting of the evidence, and discussions with former members of the Treasury Department close to Vinson reveal that it was the late Chief Justice and former secretary of the treasury who in the last analysis stood up for White and refused to permit him to be fired in February, 1946.

Vinson did not want Harry White in the Treasury as assistant secretary. This was the post which White held when Vinson took over the Treasury Department in the summer of 1945. However, it was Vinson who recommended that White be shifted to the International Monetary Fund.

Though this has been played up in the newspapers as a promotion, actually the International Monetary Fund post was far less sensitive. Involved no security as far as the United States was concerned, and was less important as far as policy matters were concerned than the Treasury.

Vinson, though warned by friends, including this writer, that White was definitely pro-Russian, nevertheless did not have an FBI report on White when he first recommended White for the International Monetary Fund. The FBI report was received in December, 1945, but the first report referred to White only in minor detail and dealt in much more detail with Alger Hiss and other alleged members of the spy ring.

Later the FBI submitted a second report, but this was at about the time White was confirmed by the Senate. And at that time Vinson took a very definite position that he would not withdraw White from the International Monetary Fund unless J. Edgar Hoover revealed the name of the informant who charged White with being a member of a spy ring. The informant, it is now known, was Elizabeth Bentley. But at that time Hoover refused to reveal the name.

Secretary Vinson, therefore, took the stand that everyone was entitled to face his accuser, and that since Hoover would not reveal the name of White's accuser, he, Vinson, would support White. This was one of the chief reasons White was allowed to remain on at the International Monetary Fund. Another reason was that Hoover was opposed to calling the grand jury at that time and felt it was important to watch White and others in order to track down every detail of the spy ring, if there was one.

Close friends of Chief Justice Vinson verify the above details and point out that, in effect, the late chief justice is the key to the present controversy, since President Truman relied on Vinson. In fact, both ex-President Truman and President Eisenhower were among Vinson's strongest admirers and friends. It is believed Eisenhower never would have allowed the White matter to have become public if he had realized that his old friend Fred Vinson was involved.

Congressman Harold Velde of Illinois felt as if he had been put through a combination clothes wringer and buzz saw before an off-the-record meeting of the un-American Activities Committee ended the other day. The meeting was so secret that Velde even barred an official recording of the proceedings by a shorthand reporter. However, here's what happened:

Velde called the tempestuous meeting to order by first reading a letter from Truman refusing to testify. Then in a half-humorous manner he observed that he seemed to have stirred up "quite a hassle."

"What do you expect," interrupted Democrat Francis Walter of Pennsylvania, "when Democratic members are kept in the dark as we have been about the issue of these subpoenas?"

"The first I heard about these subpoenas," continued Walter, "was when my secretary told me of a rumor that Gen. Vaughan had received one. Democratic members have been treated in a most discourteous manner. The way in which the chairman refused to consult with us, while holding caucuses with Republican members and the Republican National Committee, is destroying the nonpartisan atmosphere that has always existed heretofore on this committee."

Walter sharply reminded Velde that this wasn't the first time he had "announced an investigation" without first holding a meeting and getting a majority approval of the committee as provided by committee rules. Previously, Walter recalled, Velde had announced a probe of alleged Red connections of Protestant ministers, also without first consulting with the full committee.

Velde heatedly shot back that his authority dated back to 1948, when Harry Dexter White and former Communist Elizabeth Bentley testified before the committee. He did not need a reaffirmation of such authority, he insisted, to undertake new phases of a "continuing investigation of Communism."

"That cannot be so," rebutted Walter. "The investigation of 1948 is a closed matter. There was a final report, together with conclusions, issued at that time."

Garden Glances With The Moon

How beautiful is night!
A dewy freshness fills the silent air
No mist obscures, nor cloud, nor speck, nor shade.
Breaks the serene of heaven:
In full orb'd glory yonder Moon divine
Tolls through the dark blue depths.

The moon today is in the movable, fiery and very barren sign, Cancer. I plan to propagate African violets. If I've not mentioned African violets in this column lately, do not think I've lost my enthusiasm for them. They are my favorite house plant with begonia and gloxinias running a close second. Have you any of the newer ones? "Edna Fischer," "Christmas Star" or "White Madonna," for instance? Or are you one of those people who do not know the variety names of your house plants? Why grow them if you do not know their names and if they do not possess names, why bother with mediocre plants? It's so easy and inexpensive to acquire named and registered plants that no one should waste his time and efforts with less than the best.

We turned on our sprinkler

Early next week when the moon is in the fruitful sign, Cancer, I plan to propagate African violets. If I've not mentioned African violets in this column lately, do not think I've lost my enthusiasm for them. They are my favorite house plant with begonia and gloxinias running a close second. Have you any of the newer ones? "Edna Fischer," "Christmas Star" or "White Madonna," for instance? Or are you one of those people who do not know the variety names of your house plants? A Secret Weapon Inside The Closet

You can talk all you want to about the wheel being the most important invention ever invented, but there is something that will beat it all hollow if it is ever perfected—a disappearing clothes hanger.

Clothes hangers—the kind made of wire—are very handy gadgets, as it is. They save piling your clothes on the closet floor, which can be an inefficient procedure when you've left your wallet in the bottom pair of pants. When uncoupled and straightened out, they also make good stakes for tomato plants, and if you had a pipe that was big enough, they would probably be good pipe cleaners.

The only real trouble with clothes hangers of the non-disappearing variety is encountered in closets. It stems from the fact that cleaners send your clothes back on clothes hangers. Cleaners are probably persons of more than average intelligence, as is demonstrated by this fact. They have found a way to dispose of their surplus clothes hangers. They send them to the rest of us.

Have the rest of us ever shown enough intelligence to retaliate by sending our dirty clothes to the cleaners' on clothes hangers? We have not! We just keep the hangers until it becomes a question of who's going to occupy the house—us or them.

These meditations have been inspired, as you may have guessed, by an attempt to get at an old topcoat in the back of my closet. It became evident at once that the topcoat could not be reached without disturbing the regiment of empty clothes hangers which have gradually come to take up two-thirds of my closet space.

Sunday and yesterday and gave our garden a real good watering. It wasn't the garden at the time that we were so concerned about, but our birds. Eight robins, a dozen or so goldfinches, almost as many juncos and sparrows were flitting about our tiny pool and apparently wanting baths. What a glorious time they all had in the sprinkler! Our cardinals, "Mr. and Mrs. Red," soon came to join in the fun. The wrens were missing. They, being late leavers for the South, must have taken off just before our snow. However, the goldfinches are the latest of all our birds to go South. Late each year one hears, and sees them flitting through the plum thicket up on Freeman Acres. They've changed into their winter plumage for the trip, lost all of their bright yellow feathers. The new ones match more nearly the color of autumn and winter landscapes.

Do you have your bird feeders and suet bars in place? Do it today!

So until another day—

On the theory, however, that doing the impossible would be easier than taking all those hangers out and later putting them back, I tried to get the coat without disturbing them. On hands and knees I crawled under the hangers to the back of the closet, then gingerly reached upward for the topcoat. For a moment I thought success had crowned my effort. Instead, it was a clothes hanger which crowned me. The hook on the one which held the topcoat caught in the corner of another hanger, the last empty one on the closet line, and before I knew it a chain reaction had set in.

The second hanger slipped through a third and around one end of a fourth, creating an effective lock. Patiently in the semi-darkness of the closet, I worked to untangle them. I must have started at the wrong end. Within two minutes every hanger on the closet bar was tightly embracing every other one, and my temper was running short. I yanked.

It was an error. It never pays to lose your temper at a clothes hanger. Something gave, but not the hangers—it was the bar. I struck, kicked and bit, all to no avail. Then I screamed. It was this latter tactic which brought Mrs. F. onto the scene. "You look like you are practicing," she commented acidly, "to be a barbed wire entangler."

It took 45 minutes of intensive research, including a close reading of the Boy Scout knot-tying manual, to get me free of clothes hangers. There was one consolation, though. The only thing those particular hangers are good for any more is a submarine net.

Back To The Tax Rolls

Sen. Hugh Butler has maintained a consistent position with respect to the ultimate disposal of old Ft. Robinson. Since its usefulness as a military establishment is over, and the federal government is agreeable to giving the state of Nebraska title to its buildings and grounds, embracing in all an approximate 21,000 acres, Mr. Butler feels that it should be returned to the tax rolls.

That would mean, we take it, in his judgment, Ft. Robinson should be sold to the highest bidder or bidders.

In these days of grueling tax burdens, the senator's position carries a conviction, particularly with those who have no first-hand information about the historic or the recreational value of old Ft. Robinson, that might not be so appealing in different circumstances. One can only guess how much the lands included within Ft. Robinson would bring. Part of it is wooded and hilly—part of it is grassed. Generally, we assume, the land would lend itself to grazing purposes admirably. If that is the case, then the chances of realizing a huge windfall through the sale of old Ft. Robinson are not too bright.

The heart of the current discussion inspired by the decision in Washington to dispose of some of the main buildings at the fort, a decision which has brought opposition from the Western Nebraska Chamber of Commerce Association, gets down to the matter of how much the people of Nebraska desire to spend for recreational purposes. There is no difficulty in preserving the essential historic values of Ft. Robinson in any well-developed recreational program under the Nebraska State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission. From the historic standpoint, the preservation of the chief buildings will lend themselves admirably to the development of a state park or recreational facility at Robinson.

It is a decision that must be made now, or within a few months, not 50 years hence when perhaps an older, more mature state might wish there had been the vision 50 years earlier to take full advantage of the opportunity to preserve a site which possesses such magnificent recreational possibilities. It possesses advantages which no other state park in Nebraska has, to our knowledge. Its pine, its aspen, its wooded areas, its clear stream, its

Kindness At Work

One of the surest signs of Christmas being just around the corner is the annual opening of Christmas seal sales by the forces working at the control of tuberculosis. President Eisenhower started off the 1953 campaign the other day.

Public giving to the war against tuberculosis is a true example of brotherly love and a proper expression of the Christmas spirit, actually more in keeping with the sense of the holiday than all of the emphasis on evergreen and jingling bells. Real happiness and continued life has been awarded to countless sufferers over many years due to the pennies that American people have spent for the little seals that take their message of good will ahead of Christmas.

It is an excellent example of what small acts of kindness can accomplish when many are engaged in them, what tremendous good can be performed when everyone lends even a small push. Human welfare, peace and true uplift need no power outside themselves. They only need lots of people, great and small, bonded together in earnest heart.

It is good to contemplate the phenomenon of the Christmas seals. It is not just that it has made good war against a disease. It is more in the lesson that it teaches in what makes good, good.

Of Men And Things

The reader may have experienced a sinking sensation last week when he read in the news columns completion of a second 48-inch pipe line from Ashland to Lincoln would increase this city's available water supply to 45 million gallons daily.

Actually the supply of 45 million gallons of water daily for Lincoln early in 1955 is only a part of the full program. Ultimately as a result of the present program now under way, the people of Lincoln can anticipate a supply of 60 million gallons daily, possibly more for brief periods in drawing upon reservoir storage to meet any short emergency. The completed plan will virtually double

Lincoln's water supply now available. The peak consumption on any day in 1953, a consumption augmented by heat and drought and limited by the necessary imposition of rationing regulations, was an approximate 35 million gallons in a 24-hour period. Naturally an additional 10 million gallons, which will become available immediately with the completion of the second pipe line, is a scant margin for the needs of a growing community.

That added amount will utilize only about 40 per cent of the capacity of the second 48-inch pipe line shortly to get under construction. As indicated previously, the ultimate goal at full capacity is 60 million gallons daily, a goal which can be attained easily within the limits of the bond issue already approved by the people of Lincoln.

The people of Lincoln can be grateful for the careful study which the members of the Lincoln Advisory Water Board, Mayor Clark Jeary, and his associates on the Council are giving to each step of this water expansion program. The first bit of good luck came when bids for the construction of preliminary portions of the program actually were far below the estimated costs. The next bit of good luck, shall we call it, developed when the issue of revenue bonds voted to finance the expansion program commanded an exceptionally favorable interest rate which will result in a saving running into hundreds of thousands of dollars during the life of the bonds. Actually luck is not the word to describe it. The water program has been handled well, thanks to the advisory board and to the Council. It should have gotten under way earlier, but it is now proceeding excellently.

It is important to note, however, that when finally completed, the present program looks to a daily supply of 60 million gallons of water, not the 45 million gallons which will be available when the construction of the supplemental pipe line is completed.

Someone Is Wrong

At the moment Agriculture Secretary Benson is dismantling the regional structure of the Soil Conservation Service, Postmaster General Summerfield is turning to regional de-centralization to cure the topheavy troubles of the centralized postoffice department. It provides a picture of two cabinet heads setting off in opposite directions in search of a common goal, improvement of service.

One of them is going to be wrong. Summerfield is turning to regional operation on the advice of the Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization. And he adds that decentralization follows the example set by many of the largest and most successful businesses in the country. He seems to have the best end of the case.

But Benson's liquidation of the regional SCS service has but one point of reference. It is going back to a 15-year-old centralization that failed to get the job done because it got too topheavy at Washington. That evil was remedied when the regional plan went into effect.

Greenlease Case

It was just six weeks ago that the nation was gripped by the news of the abduction and death of little Bobby Greenlease. In the eventful days that followed, Bonnie Brown Heady and her companion, Carl Austin Hall, have pleaded guilty. It remains only for justice to pronounce the merited sentence. All that can be done to comfort the desolated parents has been done. The public, rushed as it is by the press of daily events, has turned to other matters. But the comforting realization remains: law enforcement did an excellent job. It is still more effective than crime. Its swift and precise triumph over the kidnappers made us all that much more secure. Speedy justice is still the greatest deterrent.

Blood Guilt Doctrine Enters Air Force Case

WASHINGTON — One of the worst evils of modern totalitarianism is the revival of the concept of blood guilt out of a more primitive time. In Communist Russia if one member of a family is suspected of disloyalty to the regime, the whole family suffers. At best they lose their right to living space and ration cards. They will be lucky not to be thrown into a concentration camp.

Such a concept is, of course, a denial of everything in which the West professes to believe. This fact, together with the atmosphere of suspicion and doubt growing out of the Communist threat and the discovery of treason even inside government, may help to explain the interest aroused in the case of Lt. Milo J. Radulovich of the Air Force reserve.

The Air Force determined after an investigation that Radulovich was a security risk. He was given an opportunity to resign his commission without publicity; instead he chose to fight the charges not only before a closed hearing by an Air Force administrative board, but in an appeal to public opinion.

As set forth in a "statement of reasons" sent to 26-year-old Radulovich, the charge consists of having maintained "a close continuing association with his sister, Margaret, and with his father, John. Both father and sister are charged with Communist associations. Nothing other than this association is alleged against Lt. Radulovich."

Since first coming to public notice, the case has been widely commented upon. Edward R. Murrow devoted a "See It Now" television program to the Radulovich case with the sponsor, The Aluminum Company of America, giving up the middle commercial spot for complete documentation would be possible. The program drew a huge volume of mail, greater than for any in the "See It Now" series, and by conservative estimate the letter writers were a hundred to one in favor of Radulovich and against the Air Force.

Murrow stated, in the course of a remarkably effective piece of TV journalism, that he had been unable to get from the Air Force any explanation of their position. Two factors make it difficult to understand the viewpoint of the service, as this reporter quickly learned in looking into the Radulovich case. The first factor has to do with the position of security officers who say they have information that cannot be disclosed. It comes through the tapping of wires and it has international ramifications.

Blood Guilt Doctrine Enters Air Force Case

The second factor, in the view of those responsible for Air Force security, is concerned with confusion as to the nature of the Radulovich case. It is not in any sense, they say, a trial and the young lieutenant has not been found guilty of anything.

But since he has challenged the charges publicly, a stigma will attach to him if the final finding is against him that is the heart of the matter. And it becomes all the more meaningful when, insofar as one can learn without seeing the closed file, there is no shadow of Radulovich's loyalty other than the presumption that he must have been influenced in the direction of Communism by his close association with his relatives and especially his sister.

Against this presumption is Radulovich's own sworn testimony before a board of Air Force officers. He testified that since his marriage in 1947, he had seen his sister on the average of once a year. Radulovich, now living near Ann Arbor while he attends the University of Michigan, said he saw his sister mostly at their parents' home.

He denied in his sworn testimony that he had discussed anything with her other than ordinary family matters. They never talked politics. Then Radulovich testified:

"I feel the close and continuing association is there regardless, I was born into it; he is my father and she is my sister. I can't cut the blood tie."

In the "Statement of Reasons," a long list of Communist or pro-Communist associations is alleged against the sister. But it does not set forth her employment by the Yugoslav embassy in Washington. According to Air Force security officers, she left that job after Tito broke with Moscow because of her convictions. This is an example of the allegations not made public although they influenced the decision of the board.

The allegations against the father are narrower, consisting chiefly of the charge that he subscribed to a pro-Communist Serbian paper. He is alleged to have spread pro-Russian and pro-Communist propaganda in the Hudson Motor Company where he is employed, in 1946 and '47, his last being hearsay report.

The Radulovich case has been passed on by Frederick Ayer Jr., put in charge of security by Air Force Security Harold Talbot. Ayer is an alert young lawyer from Boston who served in the FBI from 1940 through 1946. But the ultimate decision must come from Talbot and, whatever it is, it will take some explaining. Not To Be Ignored

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We wish to express our appreciation for your fine editorials on the vital issues of today. We feel, as you do, that our freedoms are in grave danger. This is brought home to us by recent events in our own university. The fear which is being spread throughout the country by McCarthyism is a threat which cannot be ignored.

We look to The Lincoln Star to keep us informed and alert.

To Fool All The People

Big Springs, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The present GOP exaltation might well be summed up as follows:

"Here at last," exulted he,
The faithful GOP,
"We've hit the stuff among the sluff,
Entrenched 'we'll ever be."

Brownell has blasted by his might
The grave of one passed long from sight,
From cloth and bone and eerie green,
To raise the ghost of Harry White.

Velde, anxious, grabs the cue,
He'll make the people retch and sneer,
His bold demand and brusque command
Will make the Demos' boll and brow.

Here at last in goodly tome
We've not "the thing" that we'll drive home,
Folks will forget the evils met
In days of Troop Dome.

What care we for the few who see
The purpose of our scheme?
We'll fool enough to make it tough
For all who dare to dream.

The Pendulum

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The following I call Life's "Pendulum."

I watch the clock tick off the time,
The fleeting moments are not mine,
Just loaned by One whose all-seeing eye
Keeps close in touch until I die.

Those precious moments never return,
The pendulum of life slavers,
Inevitable they come and go,
From whence to where, we do not know.

From birth life's pendulum ticks on,
Each passing moment right or wrong,
One moment, just a baby's cry,
One moment, then life's parting shroud.

JOHN T. PECK

New Approach Needed

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Another unsatisfactory Nebraska University football season is drawing to a close. Soon Cornhusker fans will be comforting themselves with the hope that it will be different next year.

The hope is a shadow. Unless there is a fundamental reappraisal to the football problem, there will be no real change. The Nebraska policy is bearing normal fruit.

I cannot see that Nebraska is playing worse football in recent years. Times have simply changed and Nebraska thinking has not. The game has been changed up. The conference has changed. The Oklahoma today is not the Oklahoma of 1930, nor is Missouri, nor is Colorado. Nebraska has stood still. The others have adjusted to present-day requirements. They are not going to cut back to Nebraska's thinking. It is Nebraska that must take a new approach; that or just keep on suffering.

Upbraiding the kids and firing coaches is not going to correct a fundamental misconception. And since Nebraska has been a consistent loser since the Rose Bowl days which were 13 years ago, it is hard to believe that local analyses are adequate. We'd better bring in some counsel with better perspective.

Horse Race Betting Up $2 Million In '53

Total For Six Tracks $20 Million

OMAHA (AP)—Pari-mutuel bets at Nebraska tracks this year totaled nearly 20 million dollars—or the equivalent of about $15 for every man, woman and child in the state.

The total was an increase of more than 2 million dollars over last year.

An unofficial survey Monday showed $19,684,377 in bets passed through the windows at Nebraska's six horse race tracks in 1953.

Last year the total handle was $17,482,318. In 1951 the total was $14,465,494.

91 Racing Days
Accounting in part for the 1953 increase is the fact there were 91 racing days in Nebraska this year, compared with only 83 last year. New to the list was a five-day session at Alliance. The Mitchell meet was boosted from a 6 to 9-day affair.

Total handles at the meeting this year and last:

At-Sar-Ben: $13,671,178 and $12,922,318.
State Fairs: $2,675,156 and $2,364,094.
Columbus: $1,849,545 and $1,310,704.
Midland: $814,303 and $559,684.
Mitchell: $425,190 and $231,589.
Alliance: $220,966 this year, no racing last year.

Big Madison Increase
Earl Moyer of Madison, chairman of the State Racing Commission, says the 47 per cent increase in the handle at the Madison meet this year probably is the largest for any licensed track in the country in 1953.

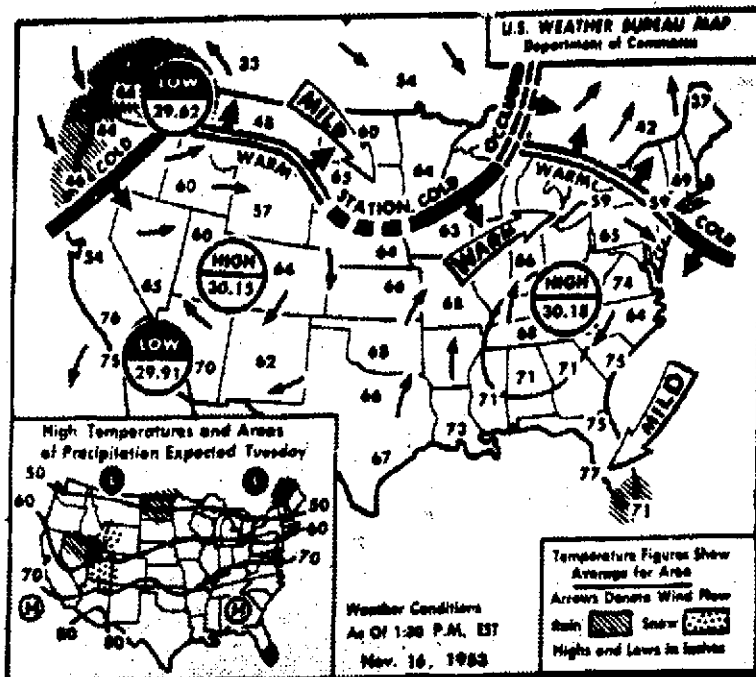

At Mitchell, extending the meet from 6 to 9 days brought an increase in the total handle but a drop in the daily average of betting from $55,261 in 1952 to $50,776 in 1953.

Attendance figures are not available from all tracks but total attendance at the Omaha, Lincoln and Madison meets this year amounted to 394,270, compared with 336,471 last year.

The attendance breakdown:

At-Sar-Ben: 303,054 this year, 285,023 last year.
State Fairs: 70,000 (estimated) this year, 64,000 (estimated) last year.
Madison: 21,750 this year, 17,448 last year.

Nebraska racing, legalized in 1935, is a non-profit operation and the state gets no revenue from pari-mutuel wagering. The State Racing Commission collects a fixed daily license fee at each track, however, and profits from the racing venture are turned over by the sponsoring organizations for use as premiums at county fairs.

Violent Death Of State Hospital Inmate At Hastings Is Probed

HASTINGS, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Adams County Attorney Richard Hunter said late Monday he wants to further investigate the death of a Hastings State Hospital inmate before deciding whether to file charges against another hospital patient.

Killed was Peter Reisbeck, 68, of Scottsbluff, who was found beaten to death. He had been a patient at the hospital since Oct. 16.

An inquest opened Monday afternoon and will be completed Tuesday, the county attorney said.

Hunter said, "from the physical circumstances it is apparent that Reisbeck died as the result of being beaten by Frank Martin, 30, a patient who was housed in the room adjoining that of the deceased." Martin is from Lincoln County although he was committed from Douglas County in 1951.

Adams County Sheriff Worthy Woods was called to the hospital by Dr. G. L. Sandritter, superintendent of the state hospital, after two attendants, Charles Taylor and LaVerne Reiber, informed

Dr. Sandritter of finding Reisbeck lying on the floor of his room in a pool of blood.

Adjoining Room
Reisbeck and Martin have adjoining rooms on the first floor of the south annex building. The rooms, about 9 by 7 feet, are heated by the same steam radiator, which stands in an opening in the wall between the two.

Investigators said all indications are that Martin crawled through the opening, strangled and beat Reisbeck, and then returned to his own room through the opening.

There were bloodstains on the wall and Martin's hands were covered with blood.

Hunter said no weapon was found. He pointed out, however, that Martin was wearing a type of handcuff used to keep some patients in restraint.

He said the handcuffs had been placed on Martin about two days ago, after he had struck Reisbeck and some other patients for making noise.

Three members of the State Board of Control were present for Monday's preliminary hearing.

G.I. Asked To Comply With New Tax Law

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—

State Sen. Joseph D. Martin Monday appealed to the District Court to require the city of Grand Island to comply with the new state law on interest rates for delinquent paying tax payments.

Martin named the city council and the city officials in his suit asking an alternative writ of mandamus to force the city to use interest rates on delinquent paying tax payments prescribed in a 1953 state law, instead of the higher rates provided in the city charter.

In Nov. 12 Martin offered City Treasurer Sigurd Johrde payment on an installment on his paying tax with three days delinquency at the 6 per cent rate established by the state law.

Johrde refused the payment on the grounds that the interest should have been at 9 per cent as provided by the city charter.

Two weeks ago Martin had written the council and made a formal demand that it comply with the new state law.

Monday's lawsuit was the next step.

He requested the district court to issue the alternative writ requiring the city "to comply with the law and statutes of the state of Nebraska and accept payment of the delinquent installment with interest at a rate not to exceed 6 per cent per annum." He asked that the defendants appear in court Dec. 17 to show cause why they should not comply with the state law.

Benson Is Staging 'Comeback,' Aids Say

Regaining Popularity, They Claim

OMAHA (AP)—Aids of Secretary of Agriculture Benson, recent target of some farm leaders because of his policies, expressed belief Monday that he is staging a "comeback" in popularity.

They based this belief on what the secretary has heard on a Western drought inspection tour he was completing Monday, the character of his mail in recent days, and reports of political leaders.

Everywhere the GOP farm leader stopped to check on drought conditions in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Wyoming and Utah he received assurances from farmers and ranchers that they supported his policies on farm price supports and his controversial action in reorganizing his department.

Caravan Turning Point

Benson wound up the 5,000-mile drought tour with a stop in Missouri Monday. He was accompanied by officials from his department, Rep. Belcher (R-Okla.), representing the House Agriculture Committee, Homer Gruenther, a White House assistant, and newsmen.

In summing up the matter for reporters, the Benson aids said things started turning favorable for Benson after he had rejected demands of a "cattlemen's caravan" for cattle price supports and after he went ahead with a department reorganization plan over opposition of some soil conservation leaders.

Rep. Belcher, who joined the Benson party after participating in a House Agriculture Committee tour of the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast areas seeking farmer views on new agricultural legislation, said the secretary is "getting stronger every day."

Opposes Direct Supports

Belcher also took part in a recent committee tour of the Midwest that uncovered strong farmer criticism of Benson views.

At Lubbock, Tex., Benson aids were told by H. J. Porter, Texas Republican national committeeman, that his mail was showing increasing support for the secretary in that state.

Benson opposes direct price supports for crops on the ground that they tend to price the commodities out of markets, create surpluses and bring on production controls.

Benson associates believe the next several weeks will bring the secretary further encouragement. They are counting

School Revamping Move Challenged By Axtell Board

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP)—The Axtell board of education has challenged the school redividing move, which transferred two quarter sections of land from the Kearney County School District R-1 at Axtell to District 74 at Funk.

The petition, filed by William M. Meyer of Minden, attorney for the board, contends there were nine points of error on the part of a board ruling on the transfer. The board was composed of county superintendents, tax assessors and clerks of Phelps and Kearney Counties.

Grand Jury May Probe Douglas County Business

OMAHA (AP)—The Douglas County board informally agreed Monday to consider the calling of a grand jury to investigate the conduct of county business.

There was no vote on the question, which has been the subject of considerable discussion.

The board members said they have no objection to a grand jury, but none actually proposed that one be asked.

Owen Cotton, executive director of the Association of Omaha Taxpayers, told the board that "probably the best way for the board could be to go to the people a clear, honest about operations of the county house." He said he did not think an audit would be sufficient.

A Little Of This--And That

THE EARLY week news has a little of this and a little of that--varied and interesting. Have news of some travelers this evening--some home-comers--plus a party or two--or three--and an echo from the homecoming week end--

THE travelers we mentioned are Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Martin who left Sunday evening for the east where they will spend Thanksgiving with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Martin Jr. at Wellesley Hills, Mass., where Mr. Martin Jr. is attending Babson Institute of Business. For their stay in Wellesley Hills Mr. and Mrs. Martin will have an apartment just above the one occupied by their son and daughter-in-law on the college campus.

Bruce Martin will plane into Wellesley Hills to join his family for the Thanksgiving holiday.

OUR WEEK end echo has to do with Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Gillespie and their homecoming house guests--Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Antics, all of Scottsbluff.

The visitors were the incentive for numerous informal week end courtesies.

BACK home again are Mr. and Mrs. C. Dean Lowry who have just returned from a trip to California where they were the guests of Mrs. Lowry's brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Burkett in Orinda, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Burkett in Sacramento.

SOMEONE told us that Dr. and Mrs. Allan Campbell are expected home Wednesday evening or Thursday from a trip to the southwest.

TONIGHT is the night that the members of the Fifty Fifty Club will dine and dance in the Terrace Room at Hotel Lincoln. During the evening the new members, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Mutz and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Carrier, will be introduced.

OUR little red book tells us that another party has been added to the long list of courtesies for Miss Adele Coryell whose marriage to Donald J. Hall will take place on Nov. 28.

On Thursday evening Miss Coryell will be an honoree when Miss Diane Weiss is a dessert supper hostess at her home.

ANOTHER OF the brides-elect, Miss Mary Margaret Loomis, who is to marry Richard Moulton on Dec. 27, is the incentive for the mother-daughter luncheon on Friday, Nov. 27, when Mrs. Lloyd Corp and her daughter, Mrs. Bryce Crawford III, of Omaha--and Mrs. Myron D. Noble and her daughter, Miss Virginia Noble, are hostesses at the home of Mrs. Corp. Following the luncheon Miss Loomis will be presented with a poem and gadget shower.

Plainview Club Meets

Mrs. R. R. Schrader was hostess to the members of the Plainview Extension Club at the group's November meeting when reports on the club activities were presented.

Plans for the Christmas dinner and party, to be held December 10, at the home of Mrs. Lee Hunt, were discussed during the meeting, at which Mrs. Schrader presided.

A Jesson on, "When You Are A Home Nurse," was presented by Mrs. Mary Meyer and Mrs. Louis Meyer after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Palladians Has Sunday Ceremony

The annual founders day banquet of the Palladian Literary Society Alumni will be held at 6:30 o'clock, Friday evening, at the Student Union.

Presiding as toastmaster will be Robert W. McDermand, president of the alumni association, and the program will feature a talk on his trip to Italy last summer by Prof. Chauncey W. Smith of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

A talk on the activities of the active chapter will be presented by Miss Jackie Knore, active president.

All active and alumni members are invited to attend the banquet.

Has Sunday Ceremony

MRS. LOYAL ELDON MILLER

Spreading arrangements of chrysanthemums, and white candles burning in seven-branched candelabra, appointed the chancel of the Lincoln Assembly of God Church for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Ann Haun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Haun of Spencer, and Loyal Eldon Miller of Lincoln, son of the Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Miller of Eagle Bend, Minn., which took place Sunday afternoon, November 15. The 3 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Miller, father of the bridegroom, and minister of the Eagle Bend Assembly of God Church.

As the 150 guests assembled, Mrs. Harold Haun sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. F. O. Fredericks, pianist. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Leah McConnell, organist, who also accompanied the bride and bridegroom who sang, "I Love You Truly," following the service.

Miss Betty Haun was her sister's maid of honor and wore a sheath frock of gold-toned taffeta fashioned with a full overskirt of net. Costumed identically in russet taffeta and net was the brides-

Entertain Officer

In town for a short visit is Mrs. William Hinch (right) of Denver who arrived Monday afternoon. Mrs. Hinch, district director of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, will spend just a few days in Lincoln as the attractive and official guest of the active and alumnae chapters.

Hardware Club Re-Opens Sunday Closing Fight

Drug Stores Cited For 'Violations'

Lincoln's Sunday closing dispute has been re-opened by Attorney Richard Vesteeck on behalf of the Lincoln Hardware Club, that a number of drug stores are selling items seven days a week that hardware dealers are allowed to sell only six days a week.

Vesteeck has taken his objections to drug store operations before City Attorney John H. Comstock. Lincoln's Sunday closing law allows drug stores and certain other businesses to remain open on Sunday for the sale of "necessary" items but stipulates that those stores cannot sell anything on Sunday that is ordinarily sold during the week by stores which must close on Sundays.

Given Choice
Any store or business is allowed to remain open on Sunday for general merchandising and closed on another day of the week for religious purposes.

"There are definitely violations of the ordinance," said Vesteeck. "Some drug stores advertise the sale of hardware items, paints, toys and lastly, drugs."

"We don't like the sale of our bread and butter items seven days a week when we can only sell them six days a week," answered Vesteeck, Tom Allen, president of the Lincoln Retail Druggist Association, stated that "We feel all druggists are complying with the Sunday closing law. If they want to close drug stores entirely, then they will have to close down all businesses because competition is making them all so closely integrated."

Too Restrictive
The druggists generally feel the existing ordinance is too restrictive, said Allen, because if enforced to the letter, it would

'University Professors Hold Discussion

New Right-Of-Way Signs Are Planned

Capt. Clinton C. Hurd of the Lincoln Police Department, public education traffic director, reported Monday that three new yield the right-of-way signs soon will be installed.

The new locations, Capt. Hurd said, will be designed to favor J St. traffic on 26th St., 56th St. on D St., and 11th St. on 21st St. on Q.

Comstock told the Council it would be a tremendous job to itemize all those articles which could be sold on Sundays by drug stores and all those that could not be sold on Sunday.

"It seems to me," said Councilman Joseph E. Fenton, "that it would be a physical impossibility to separate such items. What is a druggist going to do when some one wants to buy an item on his shelves, tell them he can't sell it because it is Sunday?"

A Council committee may be appointed during the week to review the problem with Comstock.

France's Decision On EDC Position Expected Shortly, NU Lecturer Says

A showdown on France's position in regard to the European Defense Community—the plan to merge western Europe's military organizations—is seen in the next two or three months.

Dr. Hubert Clauser, a biochemist from the University of Paris who this week is visiting lecturer at the University of Nebraska, believes the question of ratification of the EDC will be put to a vote in the assembly around the first of next year.

"If France agrees to pool its defense with the five other western European countries, then the Federation of Europe may be possible in the next five years," he said.

He said the French government, which signed the EDC treaty in May, 1952, delayed putting the ratification question to a vote because it knew that the plan would be rejected.

But Dr. Clauser sees the September election in Germany as a "great blow to the French opponents of the plan." Before the German election, which overwhelmingly rejected the German Nationalist Party, composed of neo-nazis—the French opponents used as an argument against EDC the point that former Nazis would take over the German government and in turn gain the upper hand in any EDC program, Dr. Clauser said.

"But the German election showed that the German people were on the side of the democratic nations," Dr. Clauser pointed out that at present France is divided on what nation is the most dangerous to Europe: Germany or Russia. About 50 per cent of the people, mostly old people who still remember World War I, fear Germany more than Russia. They still consider Russia far away from France, which, of course, is not true. But he cites vote registration figures to show that the number of Communists is diminishing in France. "In 1944, the peak year for the Reds, 700,000 Frenchmen were registered as Communists, while today only 250,000 are so registered."

Another indication of the loss in Communist interest, he said, is the sharp drop in circulation of Communist papers in Paris. The Communist morning paper has now 250,000 readers, compared with 700,000 in 1944, and the Reds' evening paper discontinued publication some six months ago, he said.

"It is true," he added, "that the Communist Party received 20 per cent of the vote in the last French election. But most of these votes were cast in protest to economic conditions. The French citizens were voting with the Communists to seek concessions and not because of sympathy for the Reds' cause."

Dr. Clauser will give a series of lectures on the University campus through Thursday on the economic and political conditions of his country as seen by a French citizen.

Road Mishaps Kill Two More

... Fremonters Victims; State Toll 298

The death of two Fremonters brought Nebraska's mounting highway death toll to 298 Monday, compared with 295 at this time last year.

Archie C. Stamer, 59, of Fremont died in a hospital Monday of injuries received in a collision about two miles north of Fremont on Highway 77-275 late Sunday, the Associated Press said.

State Safety Patrolman Norman Patterson said Stamer's car collided with a car driven by Joseph E. Young of Brown Lake, Mich. Riding with Young was H. E. Murphy of Sioux City. Neither was injured.

Stamer is survived by his mother and four sisters.

The other Fremont victim was Robert Hendricksen, 12, who was fatally injured Sunday night when he fell from a grain wagon during a "hayrack ride."

Young Hendricksen, one of several children from Salem Lutheran Church on the party, was reported dead on arrival at a hospital.

They were in three grain wagons being towed by Alvin Christensen, about 40, of Fremont. Dodge County Attorney Forrest Johnson said the boy fell from the second wagon as the group traveled along a country road just west of Nickerson. He suffered a severe head injury.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. (Bud) Hendricksen, a brother, Richard, and a sister, Judith.

The month of November with five accidents claiming two or more lives has helped to darken hopes of holding the 1953 total below the 1952 figure of 319.

16 Less Oct. 31

On Oct. 31, Nebraska had recorded 270 deaths from highway accidents—16 less than on Oct. 31, 1952.

Then on Nov. 1, three died in an accident near Cedar Creek, single accidents the next day at North Platte and South Sioux

Benson Says SCS Change Supported

OMAHA (P)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said here Monday his Soil Conservation Service reorganization plan had met with "overwhelming support."

The program, among other things closed seven regional soil conservation service offices, including one at Lincoln.

Benson said at a news conference during a refueling stop of his plane here that he feels the reorganization "removes the barrier between government and state soil conservation offices."

He said there was no disposition to in any way weaken soil conservation programs.

In answer to a question, Benson said that technical personnel in regional offices would either be absorbed by state offices or be transferred to Washington for technical work there.

Sen. Butler (R-Neb.), who was among those greeting the secretary at Offutt Air Force Base when his plane landed, said some Dundy County ranchers are seeking emergency drought funds in order to dig irrigation wells.

Benson said money regularly allotted for such programs has been expanded this year, but he would have attorneys look into the possibility of earmarking some of the 100-million-dollar emergency loan program for such a purpose.

Commenting in general on his trip through the west to inspect drought conditions, he conceded that he saw bad conditions, but he is optimistic as to the future of the cattle industry.

Butler told him that livestock men in this area approved his meat buying program.

Before starting from Salt Lake City the Agriculture secretary said he was convinced he was right in rejecting demands of a recent "cattlemen's caravan" for cattle price supports.

Driving Violation Nets Jail Sentence

Calvin P. Henshaw, 25, of 7300 Thayer, was sentenced Monday by the Lancaster District Court to 10 days in the county jail for driving during a suspension of his driver's license.

Henshaw was also fined $100 on this count and given a $25 fine on a second count of careless driving.

The defendant had pleaded guilty on Oct. 29 to the two counts which he had appealed from Municipal Court, where he was given a $100 fine and 30 days for driving during license suspension and $50 and 20 days for careless driving as consecutive sentences.

Henshaw was arrested by the Safety Patrol on July 9 at the scene of an accident. Henshaw's car had collided with another car at a country-road turn northeast of Lincoln.

Henshaw was charged with driving during a six-month license suspension given Jan. 19, 1953, for a drunk and driving offense to which he had pleaded guilty.

$25 Fine Is Given In Appealed Driving Case

Mayo L. Holland, 23, of 338 So. 19th was fined $25 by the Lancaster District Court after he had pleaded guilty to a careless drive charge appealed from Municipal Court.

He had been fined $100 by the lower court following conviction on a careless drive offense of June 14, 1953, when the bumper of his car had caught the rear fender of another car he was attempting to pass on Highway 24 near the Lancaster-Seward County line, according to the records.

Youth On Probation; Admits House Burglary

Raymond Joseph Howell, 19, of 4810 Hillside, was placed on two years probation by the Lancaster District Court after he had pleaded guilty to burglary of a Lincoln residence.

Howell admitted burglary of the home of A. G. Orner, 4225 Prescott, on Oct. 22. Authorities said Howell obtained some money from a money box but had voluntarily made restitution.

Judge Harry Ankeny placed the defendant on probation to Adult Probation George Meyer, who said Howell was eligible for probation.

Intervention In Tax Suit Sought

Mid-Continent Investment Co. of Omaha Monday asked for permission to intervene in the Max Fromkin suit in Supreme Court challenging assessment increases ordered last July by the Douglas County board.

Fromkin, an Omaha property owner, contends the board acted too late for the increases to be legal.

The investment company asks for permission to intervene in behalf of itself and other taxpayers similarly situated.

The county, the city of Omaha and Pershing School District have answered Fromkin's petition, contending the board's action was "timely taken and law-

'Cabinet' Studies Travel Expense

Gov. Crosby said Monday his "cabinet" is studying the question of travel expense for state employees on assignment away from home.

Departments directly under the governor set the pattern, with their allowance of $4 a day for room and board in cities and towns under 5,000 population, and $5 for larger cities.

"But there are some places under 5,000 where a hotel room costs $4.50 a day, and that only leaves $1.50 for meals. There doesn't seem to be any uniformity about hotel rates," the governor commented.

He said he was informed the fully increased the valuation of parcels of real estate in Douglas County."

The question was discussed at Monday's cabinet meeting, but no decisions were reached, the governor said.

MSC Probation Won't Influence Rose Bowl Vote

Decision To Be Saturday If Illinois, Spartans Tie

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—The majority of Big Ten athletic directors indicated Monday that Michigan State's probation will not influence their vote for the conference's representative in the Rose Bowl.

An Associated Press survey showed that generally the directors will vote strictly for the football team they think is the Big Ten's best and can make the finest showing against the Pacific Coast Conference entry at Pasadena next New Year's Day. They will not get involved in other factors.

If Illinois defeats Northwestern Saturday it will share the title with Michigan State, each with 5-1 records. Wisconsin also can become a co-champion by beating Minnesota but is ineligible to return to the Rose Bowl.

The Spartans ended their conference campaign with a 14-5 victory over Michigan last week. They finish their regular season against Marquette Saturday and a victory would give them an over-all mark of 8-1, their only loss in a 33-game stretch being 6-0 to Purdue.

An Illinois triumph would give the Illini an all-game record of one tie (21-21) with Nebraska, seven victories and one defeat, a 34-7 walloping by Wisconsin Saturday.

Thus, potentially, athletic directors will be voting for either Illinois or Michigan State.

There was evidence of some feeling in the conference that Michigan State's probation would reflect unfavorably in the vote. But this was all but dispelled Monday.

Directors will wire their votes to Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson Saturday night and his

PCC To Decide Monday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Announcement of the Pacific Coast Conference representative in the 1954 Rose Bowl game is expected next Monday, Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said Monday.

Two teams remain in the running—Stanford and UCLA, each with five conference victories and one defeat. Stanford meets California Saturday while UCLA battles the University of Southern California.

Official selection is made by a vote of the conference schools. UCLA has a season record of seven wins against the single loss—21-20 to Stanford. The Indians, beaten in conference play by USC, have a season record of 6-3, the other losses being to College of the Pacific and Illinois early in the season.

Schmidt said, "In the case of a tie vote for first place, the team most recently in the Rose Bowl is excluded and the other tied team is automatically selected."

announcement is expected Sunday or Monday by the latest. He said in case of a 5-5 tie, votes will continue to be taken until the stalemate is broken. The commissioner has no authority to break a tie himself.

Wilson reiterated Monday that Michigan State was making "very satisfactory progress" in clearing up the matter of an outside booster-sponsored fund called the Spartan Foundation Inc. Allegedly the organization operated for recruiting purposes without school supervision.

Rival Coaches Defend Sikes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Coaches J. B. Whitworth of Oklahoma A&M and Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma Monday leveled criticism against what they termed "the nightmarish insistence on winning."

They came to the defense of fellow coach Sikes of Kansas at the weekly meeting of the Oklahoma City Quarterbacks Club. The two coaches left no doubt how they felt about reports that Sikes may be forced from his job after six seasons at Lawrence, Kan.

In effect, Whitworth said it was a shame that one of America's finest coaches was being kicked around by alumni and students. The Aggies defeated the Jayhawks Saturday 41-14. Oklahoma beat them 45-0.

Wilkinson branded the demand for victory and resultant pressure on coaches as the root of all intercollegiate cleanup problems.

"I always enjoy a big game like Kansas," Whitworth said, adding that when the losing coach is as close a friend as Sikes, "and Jules is like a brother to me—it takes some of the joy out of it."

Wilkinson added:

"Those people who say they're interested in correcting the faults of collegiate athletics, well, that's where it starts. That inevitable pressure to win is always on the coach."

Weston Wins Two

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL
WESTON—The Weston High School basketball team has added two more wins in early game season play to keep its record for the year spotless.

Omaha Sacred Heart was defeated by the Weston squad 56-37, while Raymond was beaten 63-43.

Swoboda led the Weston scorers in the Omaha game, chalking up 16 points. Dick Cerny and Dwayne Kubik got 12 each for Weston in the game against Raymond.

Will Lead Mighty Sooners Saturday

Halfback Larry Grigg (left), the Big Seven's leading ground-gainer, and Tackle Roger Nelson will be captains of the Oklahoma Sooners Saturday against the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the season finale at Memorial Stadium. Oklahoma is rated a 21-point favorite.

Prochaska Lauds Sooner Third, Fourth Teams

'OU Has Great Speed, Agility'—Bill

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

How is the Nebraska squad morale as the game with mighty Oklahoma looms Saturday?

To that question by one of the University Club Quarterbacks Monday, Coach Bill Glassford replied:

"We are always up for Oklahoma. The boys have been talking about this one all season and we will be as ready as we can possibly be."

Prochaska "Oklahoma has great speed and agility," warned Glassford, still worn from a recent attack of gall stones.

"It is a team with great recovery powers to go with its speed. We will not face a quicker-reacting team all season."

"We will be there for the game—all 60 minutes of it," continued the Husker coach. "Oklahoma has to play 60 minutes, too."

Scout Ray Prochaska, who saw the Sooners massacre Iowa State, 47-0, added to Glassford's warning.

"I saw mostly Oklahoma's third and fourth teams Saturday," said Prochaska. "I can report that the subs, who played most of the game, looked mighty good. Oklahoma played some men, in fact, who were not even listed on the program."

Prochaska said that the Sooners have "at least three good lines" and depend a great deal on ball control. He especially lauded Halfback Larry Grigg, Quarterback Gene Calame, End Max Boydston, Guard J. D. Roberts and Tackle Don Brown.

Oklahoma sticks with the split T-formation, Prochaska told the Quarterbacks.

"If the Sooners have a weakness, it is probably in their passing," said Prochaska. "Of course, with their blocking and ground game, they don't have to pass much."

"Any coach in the Big Seven would be happy to take what material Oklahoma has left over after its first three teams are formed," the Husker scout concluded.

Glassford, who will enter the hospital following the game Saturday, issued a "no pads" order Monday as he sent his squads through an extensive defensive drill.

Squad morale was high in the Husker camp and a chant of "we can do it" was on all lips.

Only Guard Kitzelman (an-

Virgil (Bo) Bolinger, 205-pound sophomore tackle, will be among the Oklahoma line stalwarts Saturday. He is rated one of the top new linemen in the Big Seven.

Glassford planned a scrimmage session Tuesday with all hands participating. The progress noted Tuesday will decide the plans for Wednesday, he said.

ACC To Pick Bowl Choice On Nov. 28

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference will vote Nov. 28 on the team it will send to the Orange Bowl.

Conference President J. T. Penney said Monday he was asking faculty representatives of the member schools to telegraph him their votes after season-ending games that day.

Maryland, the likely choice, ends its season this Saturday against Alabama. But Duke, also in contention, ends its season Nov. 28 against North Carolina.

Only seven schools will vote as Virginia, the conference's eighth member, became a member too late to be counted in this fall's football play.

Penney noted that conference rules and the ACC contract with the Orange Bowl specifically forbid any ACC team other than the selected representative from accepting an invitation to any bowl.

SC Votes Ease Bowl Restrictions

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Southern Conference Monday found its anti-bowl rule a bit tight and voted to let its executive committee "put on the post-season game" question should one of its members receive an invitation for a New Year's Day appearance.

The action was for this season only. The conference was not willing to lift completely the bowl ban it adopted here in December, 1951. Executive committee approval is considered only a formality.

By its action Monday, taken by a vote of 9 to 1, the conference cleared the way to permit West Virginia University to play in a Jan. 1 bowl game if the conference champion Mountaineers receive a bid.

West Virginia has been prominently mentioned in connection with both the Sugar and Cotton Bowls. The Mountaineers suffered their first defeat last Saturday, losing to South Carolina, 20-14. The lugging snapped major college football's longest winning streak at 13 games.

Max Farrington of George Washington University, conference president, said after the two-hour meeting behind closed doors that the 10-member league wants to see how it works out. "We're just not willing to take the entire ban off of the bowl situation."

The College of William and Mary, shaken more than two years ago by a recruiting scandal, cast the only dissenting vote, it was learned reliably.

Dr. Wayne Kernodle, faculty chairman of athletics, represented the school. William and Mary was one of the leaders in getting the anti-bowl rule passed.

While Farrington declined to identify the dissenting school, he said one member told the conference he didn't see any change in the bowl situation as it exists now and as it existed when the ban was put into effect.

"The rest of us saw considerable change on both the national and the local scenes," Farrington said. "The local scene, of course, is the Southern Conference."

When the conference convened here in December, 1951, it suspended the University of Maryland and Clemson College for accepting bowl invitations. Both schools have since withdrawn and became charter members of the new Atlantic Coast Conference.

"A lot of things have changed in the last two years," Farrington said, "since we voted to ban bowl participation. The National Collegiate Athletic Association has since given its approval of some bowls."

Worden, Palumbo Lame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Fullback Neil Worden and Tackle Sam Palumbo were among the missing Monday as Notre Dame's football squad began pointing for Iowa.

Worden suffered a wrenched elbow and Palumbo bruised ribs in the North Carolina game. However, both are expected to play against the Hawkeyes.

Coach Frank Leahy told the squad the Iowa game usually has proved to be the most difficult on the Irish schedule.

Dummy scrimmage occupied most of the day.

Quits Baseball For TV

Rogers Hornsby announces at a news conference Monday that he is quitting professional baseball to make television films aimed to teach the fundamentals of the game to the kids of the nation. (AP Wirephoto.)

Hornsby told a news conference that he wants to devote the rest of his life to "build the youth of America and teach them the fundamentals of the greatest game in the world."

Hornsby, now 57, was one of the great hitters in the history of baseball in his playing days, and has managed a long string of major and minor league clubs, the latest of which was the Cincinnati Reds, who gave him the axe two weeks before the end of the 1953 season.

Production of the TV film series begins here today under the direction of National Productions Inc., in which Hornsby will serve as an associate.

The idea is to put out 52 quarter-hour films a year, each devoted to particular aspects of baseball. The first, to be filmed today, will portray Jim Busby, Washington outfielder, in a series of batting situations.

Robert J. Enders, who is a part owner of National Productions, said it is expected that 100 or so stations will air the program weekly. He said that in each of the communities where the show is aired, two youngsters will receive scholarships to Hornsby's baseball school in Florida.

Gus Mancuso, former National League catcher, now is a scout for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rift Shows In Midget Grid League

As a result of the ruling by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce football policy committee which gave to South Street the championship won by Downtown, Downtown Coach Ardie Means plans to recommend that the Downtown team sponsors not fall in line with the Jaycee program next year.

The committee ruled that Downtown had violated a league rule by using two players over the maximum age limit. As a penalty, Downtown added five losses to its season record.

Downtown, which had a 6-0 record before the ruling, thus fell into second place behind runnerup South Street, 4-2 in season play.

A similar case arose last year when South Street was penalized for using an illegal coach for four games. The South Street team was penalized one loss for the violation.

This year, Downtown was penalized five losses for one violation—the use of over-age players in five games.

The two players in question scored 120 of the 130 points scored by the Downtown team this season.

Means himself brought up the question of their eligibility before Gaylord Cole, Jaycee board member in charge of sports, earlier this season.

Means said he was told to get affidavits signed by the parents of the boys in question. This he did, and later furnished them when asked for them. In the meantime the boys were allowed to play, as per instructions by Cole, according to Means.

However, birth certificates brought before the committee contradicted the affidavits and the committee ruled the boys were over the age limit.

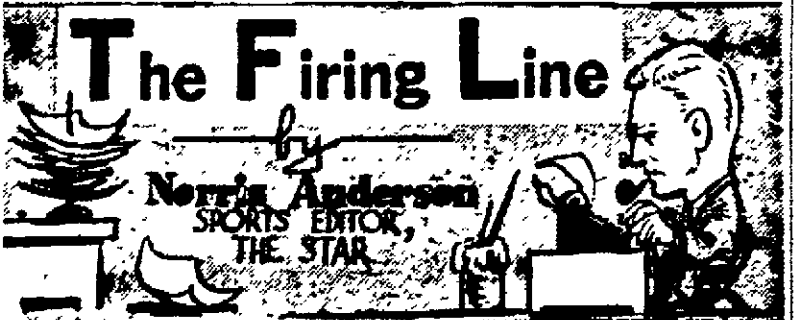

The protest was made after the season ended, yet the league rules state that in order to be valid a protest must be lodged within 24 hours of the game it concerns. But the protest was upheld.

Means and the Downtown team could appeal the ruling under league rules, but Means said he would not since he was advised not to by the policy committee.

"We won't appeal it, since we don't feel that we will receive an unbiased opinion," Means said.

There's a sneaking suspicion in the Big Seven that Nebraska's basketball team might be tough to handle.

Not pennant contenders, this current crew of Husker hoopers are a rather scrappy type of team that foretells trouble for any rival team taking it lightly.

The Huskers face the toughest pre-Big Seven schedule in history. Looming on the immediate horizon are such games as Minnesota (Dec. 5), Iowa (Dec. 12), Oregon State (Dec. 19) and Oregon (Dec. 21-22). Then comes the Big Seven tourney in Kansas City.

Minnesota, No. 3 in the Big Ten last season and one of two teams to trip Indiana, will be a rugged opening foe. Oregon, second in the Pacific Coast realm last winter, again ranks high and Oregon State features a 7-foot 3-inch center in Wade Holbrook and a forward stretching 6-8.

If the Huskers have their quota of scrappers and rebounders, they would seem to lack scoring punch—especially at the forward position. Much will depend on how Mentor Harry Good's 12 sophomores develop.

In seven years at the Husker helm, Prof. Good has produced two Big Seven champs (1948-49 and 1949-50), been in fifth place on three occasions, sixth once and seventh once.

Ever wonder what happened to the colorful gang on those championship clubs. Here's where they are today:

Claude Retherford—A successful coach at English, Ind. (His 1952 team went to the sectional finals.)

Bob Cerv—In professional baseball (Kansas City Blues) and a restaurant proprietor in Wyoming.

Henry "Painless" Cech—Still in dental school, he's rated as one of the most painless young men-movers in the business. Not a yank in the car.

Buck Whitehead—A Phillips representative in Lincoln who has formed his own basketball team.

Joe Malecek—A public accountant in Chicago.

Bob Gates—Assistant coach at Holy Name in Omaha.

Ken Anderson—Former Lexington High mentor, now called back into the service.

Antoin "Gusher" Lawry—Still the Cairo High coach.

Joe Brown—Killed in a train crossing accident.

Dick Srb—Later Rhodes Scholar, now a teacher in Ireland.

Dick Schleiger—Still a naval officer.

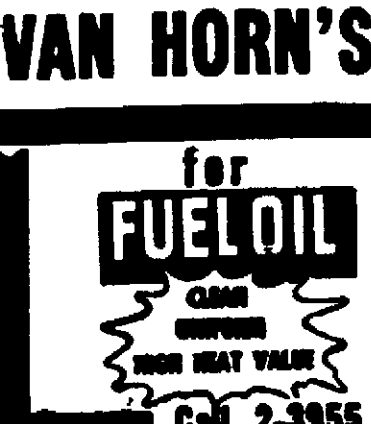

Bob Pierce—Still with the Phillips team.

Larry Walsh—A travelling man for General Motors.

Rod Cox—An engineer at Arapahoe.

Cub Jessel—An intelligence officer in the Navy Air Corps.

Consensus: Hasn't this squad made as big a success out of The Big Game as it did in the Big Seven four years ago?

Indianola, Farnam Top Six-Man Teams

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Six-man football comes to a close in Nebraska with Indianola and Farnam at the top of the Class C and Class D fields.

The Star ratings were flexible throughout the season as listed teams suffered defeats, were dropped and replaced by their conquerors or other squads which sported impressive records.

Perhaps the largest hindrance to objective ratings was the fact that many of the best teams did not meet each other and were never pressed by their opponents. The result is the inclusion in the ratings of some unbeaten squads which look fine on paper but may not be as strong as a few teams which suffered defeats against stiffer foes.

This point was emphasized last week when Winside, undefeated and the top C club, was wallowed by Leigh, 47-0. Winside had won eight games in a breeze, was reported to be a sound team. Leigh moves from a tie for third to the runner-up spot behind Indianola. Winside falls to tenth.

Indianola, Winside's eight games, defeated Red Willow and Edison of the rated D field, stopped the Axtell streak last week in the Legion Bowl at Arapahoe.

Axtell is in fifth place, behind No. 3 Milford and Paxton, the fourth club, Milford's toughest games were against Concordia, the No. 7 squad, and Ulysses, a good D team.

Paxton performed among strong competition in the center of the state, had a few close games.

Unbeaten Sacred Heart of Norfolk cleared a fair schedule to edge Concordia for sixth place in the sixth position. Concordia lost an early game to Milford, later beat tough Alvo and trial-horse Dwight Assumption.

Lyman from the northwest is eighth with St. Edward and Winside completing the class.

Farnam beat seven teams to win the title. Wins over Palisade

The Star's Top Ten

CLASS C

1. Indianola (8-0)
2. Leigh (8-0)
3. Milford (8-0)
4. Paxton (9-0)
5. Axtell (8-1)
6. Norfolk Sacred Heart (9-0)
7. Seward Concordia (6-1)
8. Lyman (7-0)
9. St. Edward (7-1)
10. Winside (8-1)

CLASS D

1. Farnam (7-0)
2. Alexandria (9-0)
3. Palisade (5-2-1)
4. Elmwood (8-1)
5. Alvo (6-3)
6. Edison (7-1)
7. Sumner (9-1)
8. Wolbach (7-1)
9. Stapleton (6-2)
10. Red Willow (4-3-1)
11. Elm Creek (7-2)

and St. Pats of North Platte were the highlights.

Alexandria takes second with nine wins against weaker competition. Palisade grabs third with good showings against Paxton and Farnam.

Fourth place Elmwood lost only once, an upset at Eagle. The club looked good in the Apple Bowl last week. Its defeat of No. 5 Alvo was a high mark of the fall show.

Alvo lost only to Elmwood, Concordia and Leigh. The Leigh loss, by two points, came late in the year when Alvo was rolling well.

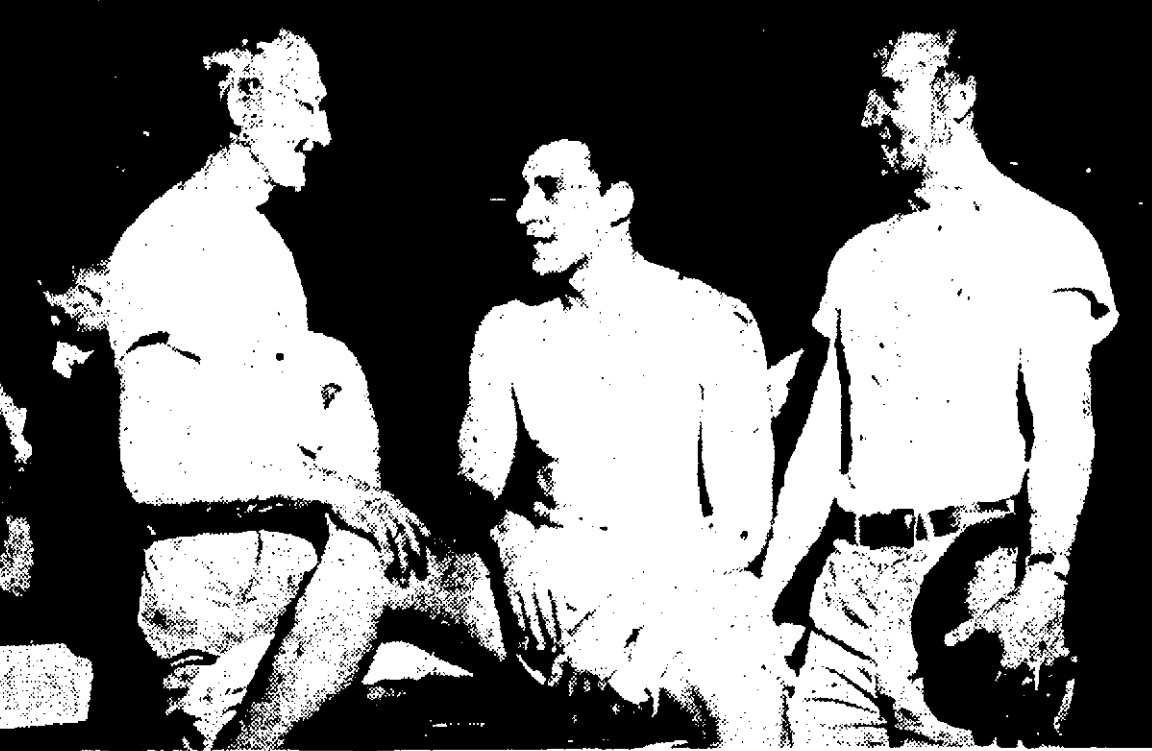

Edison, defeated only by Indianola, beats Sumner for sixth. Sumner was held to a tie by Overton, came back to whip Elm Creek (No. 10) and fair Huntley.

Wolbach is eighth with a 7-1 record. Stapleton holds ninth with two defeats by good teams. Red Willow falls into the tenth place tie with Elm Creek. The Red Willow schedule was one of the strongest in the state.

Top upsets probably were the Sumner tie at Overton, and Eagle's defeat of Elmwood. Alvo seems to be the most improved team, and the biggest blunder by the rated was his selection of Winside over Leigh.

Hunters Take Over

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (P)—The sheriff and city police received dozens of complaints Monday about hunters firing within the city limits or trespassing on farms.

Officials said the barrage of complaints was the heaviest of any hunting-season opening day in memory.

Sgt. John Devine of the city police said some callers reported hunters in their backyards on the city's outskirts.

City Engineer Claude Williams said the gunfire was so heavy near the municipal sewage disposal plant that employees were "fearful of leaving the plants."

No arrests were reported immediately.

McKenley was second in the 100 meters and the 400 meters at the Helsinki Olympics.

It Takes Longer, But Hunters Get Almost As Good A Bag

The number of pheasants bagged per hunter this season has not decreased too great an amount, probably due partly to more favorable hunting conditions.

Hunting is considerably slower than last year in terms of time spent to get each bird, according to state-wide field bag checks by Game Commission conservation officers.

However, field conditions are improved and hunters are putting in more time with the net result that the average daily bag is holding up fairly well.

Summarizing the field data, Levi Mohler, wildlife survey and investigations leader for the Game Commission, said "Hunting time is nearly twice as great this year as it was last year, but as a result, the bags are actually only about 15 per cent less than in '52."

The decrease in pheasants bagged per hunter corresponds with a report made by the Game Commission in early September

Probers Claim White Abetted Russ Policy

Glasser, Coe Are Named

From Press Dispatches
WASHINGTON — A Senate subcommittee charged Monday that the late Harry Dexter White abetted Russian policy in 1945 by leading a campaign for permanent confiscation of German property seized in the United States during World War II.

John W. Nairn, counsel for the Judiciary Subcommittee which probed the matter, said White was aided by two other men then government officials—Frank Coe and Harold Glasser—who have been named in congressional testimony as members of a Red spy ring.

Nairn said official Treasury Department papers scanned as evidence showed that the confiscation program "emanated" from the office of White, then assistant secretary of the treasury, and that Coe was a "primary actor" and Glasser a "principal participant."

White, who died since then, is the center of a nationwide controversy. Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., has charged that former President Harry S. Truman knew White was a Russian spy when he promoted White from the treasury job to a post with the International Monetary Fund.

'Radical' Change
The Senate subcommittee pointed out that at the time the United States broke established custom by refusing to restore to German owners property confiscated in America during the war, the Russians were demanding full restoration of Germany's industrial potential.

Subcommittee Chairman Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said his group wanted to know why there was such a "radical" change from the policy followed after World War I, when seized property was returned to its German owners.

Bytnes To Be Quizzed
PHILADELPHIA — Rep. Kit Clardy (R-Mich.), a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said Monday night he would head a subcommittee to question Gov. James Bytnes of South Carolina about the Harry Dexter White case "as soon as it is convenient to Mr. Bytnes."

Clardy, who is in Philadelphia in connection with the Un-American Activities Committee probe into alleged Red activity among school teachers here, made his statement on the radio network show — Reporters Roundup (MBS).

Clardy said the date for his visit to South Carolina has not yet been determined.

Brownell To Testify
Meanwhile, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee under Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) as chairman set the stage for Tuesday's hearing of Atty. Gen. Brownell, who touched off the White case explosion in a Chicago speech 10 days ago.

Jenner's group also considered the possibility of questioning James M. McInerney, former Justice Department official who reportedly knew details of what Brownell calls "espionage activities" on the part of White.

The White House withdrew further from the case Monday with a statement from Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty that President Eisenhower didn't see or approve Brownell's speech before the attorney general delivered it.

Eisenhower himself told a news conference last Wednesday that Brownell talked with him about the White affair and he told the attorney general to follow his own conscience in the matter. Eisenhower also said it was inconceivable that Truman would have done anything to damage the United States and personally he wouldn't have subpoenaed the ex-President as did the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Brownell, in his Chicago speech, said Truman promoted White from assistant treasury secretary to U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund in 1946 despite FBI reports which Brownell said established that White was a Soviet spy. White died in 1948.

'Big Boss' Hands Out The Work
"Chuck" Thorne, (left), "Big Boss" of the YMCA membership drive started Monday night with a kick-off dinner, hands out membership application cards to his assistants.

Mishap Fatal To Former Lincolnite

Larry Shepard, 21, who lived in Lincoln until a few months ago, died in a Jeffersonville, Ind., hospital Sunday a few hours after he fell from an automobile driven by his brother-in-law.

Shepard had gone to Indiana about two and one-half months ago and had been staying with his brother-in-law, Donovan L. Coulter, in Columbus, Ind.

The two had driven to Jeffersonville in Coulter's car and Shepard fell out when a door came open.

He is survived by his wife Roma and daughter Kathy Jane, 17 months, who are living with Mrs. Shepard's mother, Mrs. Daniel Pfeiff of 1023 So. 11th.

Shepard was born in Lincoln Jan. 14, 1932, and attended Belmont School and Northeast High School. He had worked for O. M. Anderson Supply Co. for several years here.

Also surviving are his father, Frank Shepard of Lincoln; two brothers, Wesley of Lincoln and Duane of Engelwood, Calif.; and three sisters, Mrs. Phyllis Hughes, Mrs. Alice Hayes, and Mrs. Betty Kellogg, all of Lincoln.

Funeral services and burial will be in Lincoln.

Brown Gets New Post
Joseph J. Brown, member of the state railway commission, was notified Monday that he has been named a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners.

YM Membership Drive Opens

"When you sell a membership in YMCA you sell a membership in a world-wide movement dedicated to Christian fellowship and ideals," Elmer Mudge told the nearly 100 persons at the YMCA's kickoff dinner here Monday night.

The dinner signalled the beginning of the group's annual membership drive. "Chuck" Thorne, "Big Boss" of the drive, announced the following goals for the Lincoln branches: downtown, 200 new members; University, 150; and Northeast, 75.

With a total of 220 workers participating in the drive, the goal for the drive will be two new members for every worker. Membership cards were distributed to the five "branch bosses" for distribution to "riders" (individual workers).

The cowboy-dressed group was entertained by Bill Morton, musician, and a barbershop quartet, the "Farmhands."

Weather Plagues Search For Plane
LONDON (AP)—Foul weather plagued planes scanning heavy seas off Iceland Monday for a missing U.S. Air Force Albatross flying boat and its five-man crew.

The two-engine amphibious plane was en route from Britain to West Palm Beach, Fla. It took off Sunday from Iceland for Greenland. An hour and 20 minutes later the pilot messaged he had encountered engine trouble and was turning back. That was the last word heard from the plane.

Farmer Pessimism Said Unwarranted

OMAHA (AP) — Pessimistic headlines about the overall farm economy aren't justified, two speakers told the 63rd annual convention of the Midwest Retail Farm Equipment Association Monday.

Much of the furor has been a matter of politics, reported Paul M. Mulliken of St. Louis, executive director of the National Retail Farm Equipment Association.

He said the nation's farm income for this year is estimated at $2 billion dollars, only one billion under last year. Mulliken said he received this estimate from Dr. Burton G. Wood, agricultural economist at Oregon State College and a member of the President's advisory commission.

L. J. Oester of Hollywood,

Fla., contributing editor to the Farm Implement News, said 1953 will be the third largest income year nationally in the history of American agriculture.

He declared the "overall agricultural condition is the best it's ever been," citing these figures to support his view.

In 1950 farmers had a net worth of about $4 billion dollars. On January 1, 1953 the figure was $4.1 billion.

Farmers in 1940 had bank deposits of four billion dollars. The 1953 figure was 15 billions.

In 1940 farmers had 249 million dollars in savings bonds. On January 1, 1953, the figure was $5,500,000,000.

Both men emphasized that conditions are serious in the drought areas, but Oester said only God can solve the problems in those areas.

They also agreed that reports that the retail farm equipment business is on the rocks are misleading.

Gov. Robert Crosby Monday night urged the association, saddened by the highway death of its managing director, to dedicate itself to traffic safety.

Crosby had come to Omaha to speak at the association's convention and present three commissions in the "Nebraska Navy."

One was to have gone to Eddie Pottel, managing director of the association, who died in a week-end collision.

Traffic accidents have become a "state problem of magnitude," said the governor.

He asked delegates to set good driving examples for the younger drivers.

Cosmetology Rules Change Hearing Given Proposals

Public hearing was held Monday on proposed changes in the rules and regulations of the state board of cosmetology in cosmetology. The meeting was in conformity with the new law requiring public hearings by regulatory bodies before adopting rules.

About 25 members of the state association attended and gave recommendations on the proposed changes. The present rules had been adopted in June of this year just before the law was changed.

It developed at the hearing that some of the rules being followed had not been filed with the secretary of state as provided under the old law. Prior to this finding considerable confusion existed over rules regulating schools of cosmetology.

The association recommended a change that would require that in the future all schools in homes have a separate outside entrance.

It was also urged that an old rule be readopted to provide that no new schools can be licensed in towns of less than 20,000 population. Only one school would be approved in towns up to 40,000 and one additional school would be permissible for each added 40,000 in population.

Traffic Quarterback Uses Effective Stiff-Arm

Monday's only Capital City "football" injury occurred when Sgt. A. L. Delaney, 419 So. 18th, was thrown for a loss at 27th and D while quarterbacking late afternoon traffic.

An unidentified motorist attempted to bring Delaney down, but the agile officer used an effective stiff-arm on the fender of the car to elude his would-be assailant.

Delaney's net gain on the play: two sprained fingers on his right hand, now encased in a bandage.

16 Per Cent Gas Rate Boost Is Requested By Central Co.

City officials have been presented with a request from Central Electric and Gas Co. for an approximate 16 per cent increase in natural gas rates to firm or residential gas users.

According to Attorney Lloyd Marti and E. C. Dean, vice president and utilities district manager for Central, the increase is the result of an approximate 21 per cent or $600,000 increase a year to Central from Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Central's wholesale supplier.

The company, said Dean, wants the new rate effective by Dec. 27, the effective date of the Northern increase. According to Marti, Central makes about 40 per cent of its year's sales of firm gas from Dec. 20 to Feb. 20.

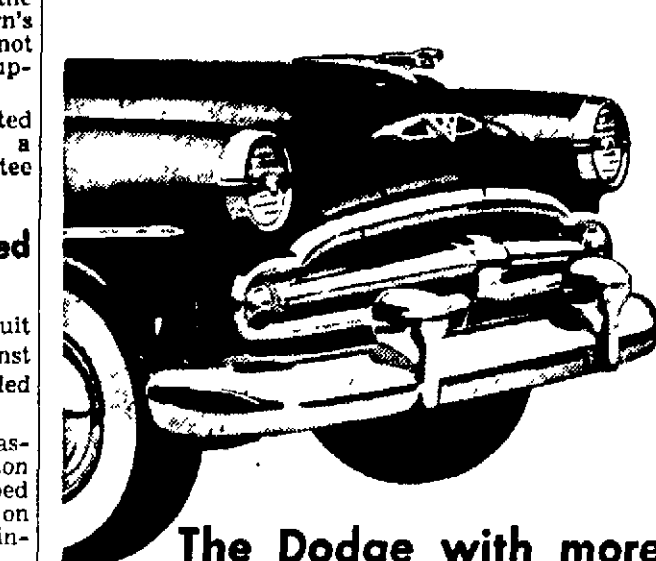

Should the company be without the requested increase during that time, he said, the loss would come to about $4,000 a day. Even with the increase, said Marti, Central's rates will be only three or four per cent higher than they were in 1939.

The last Central increase was in February of 1953 and amounted to about 11 per cent.

Dec. 27 Northern rate will go into effect under bond. All wholesale rates, explained Marti, go into effect five months after the request for an increase has been presented to the Federal Power Commission unless the Commission acts on the request before that time.

Clothes get deep, clean rinsing! After a penetrating Spray Rinse, Spiralator action combines with a Deep Overflow Rinse to thoroughly loosen, then flush suds and soil up and over the tub, never through the clothes.

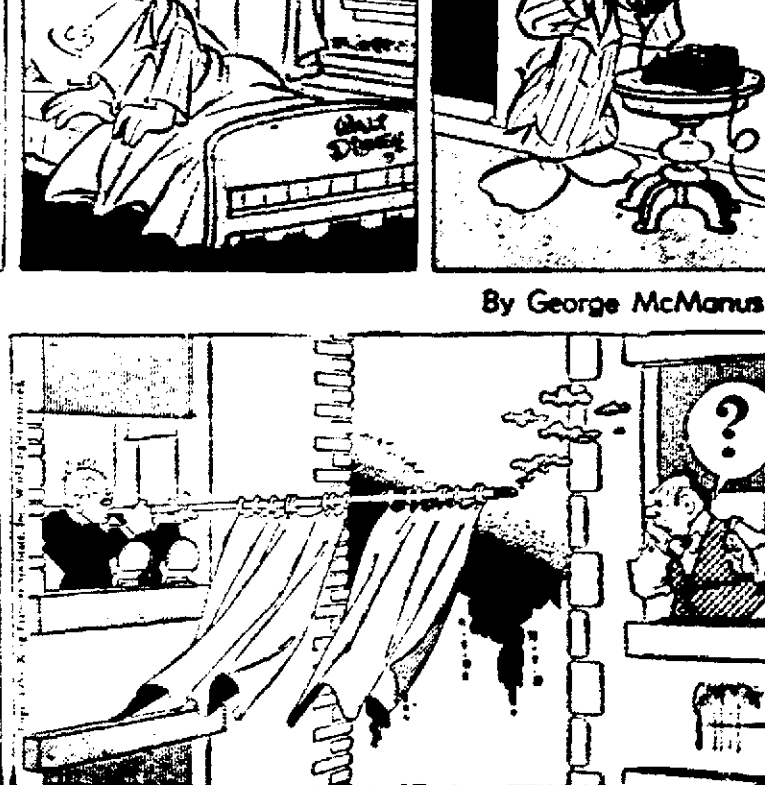

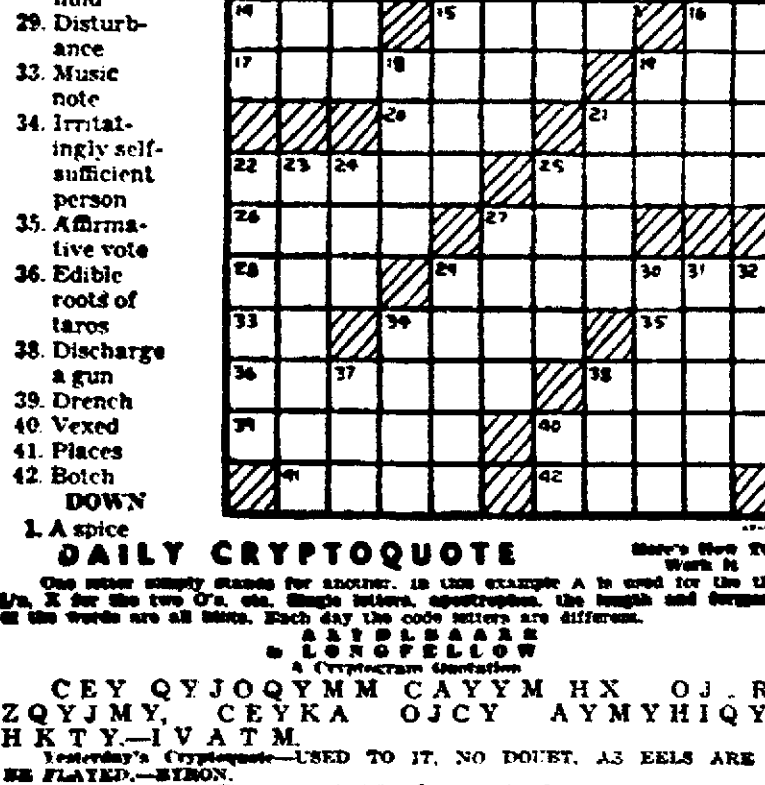

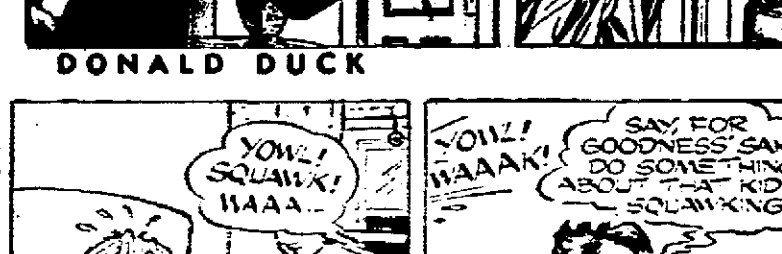

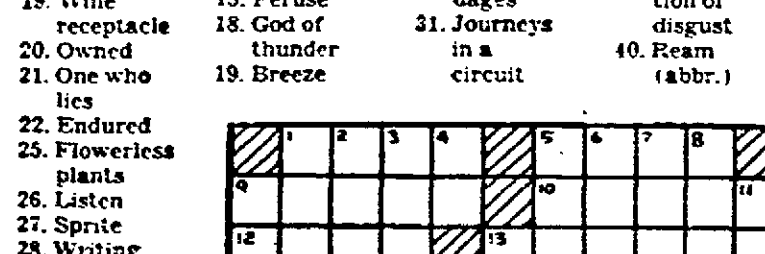

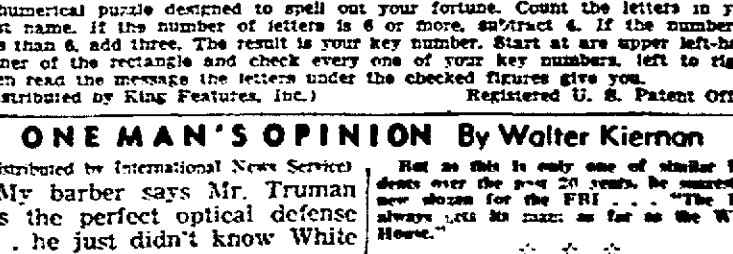

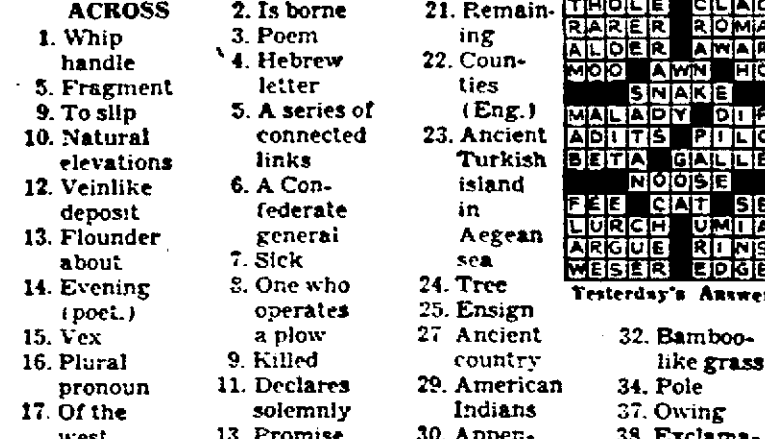

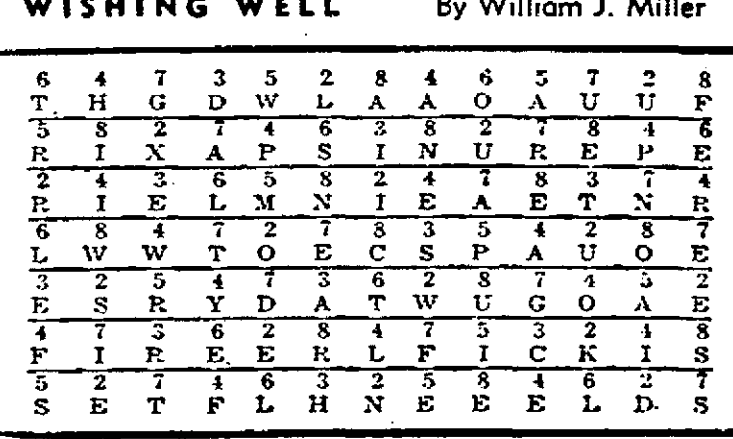

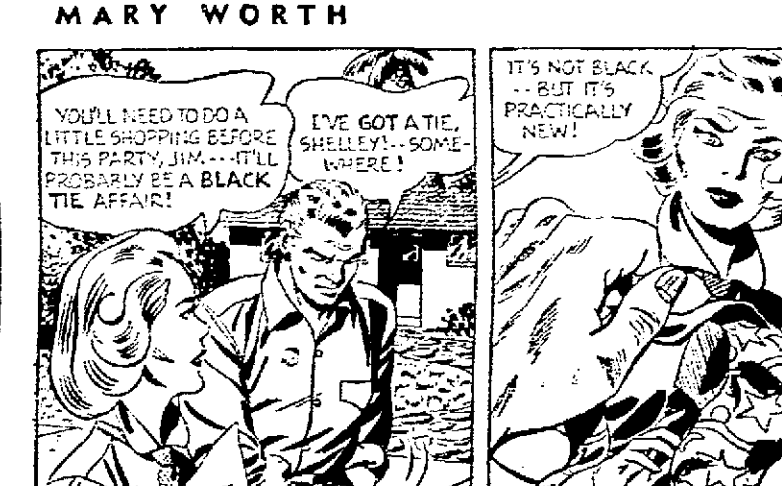

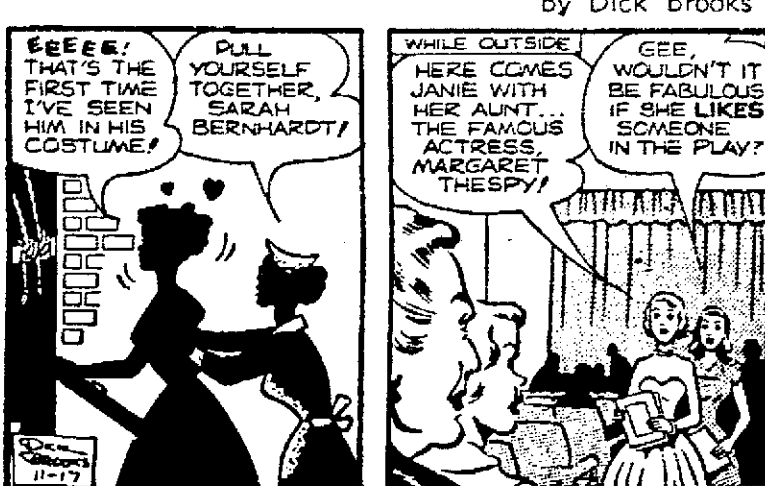

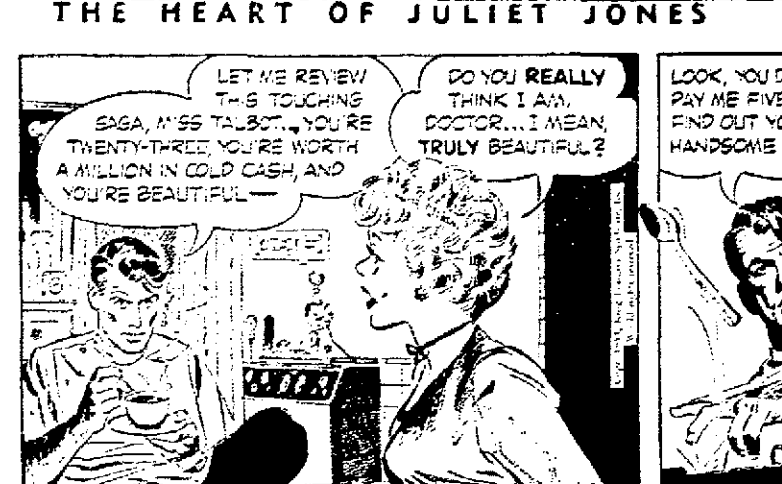

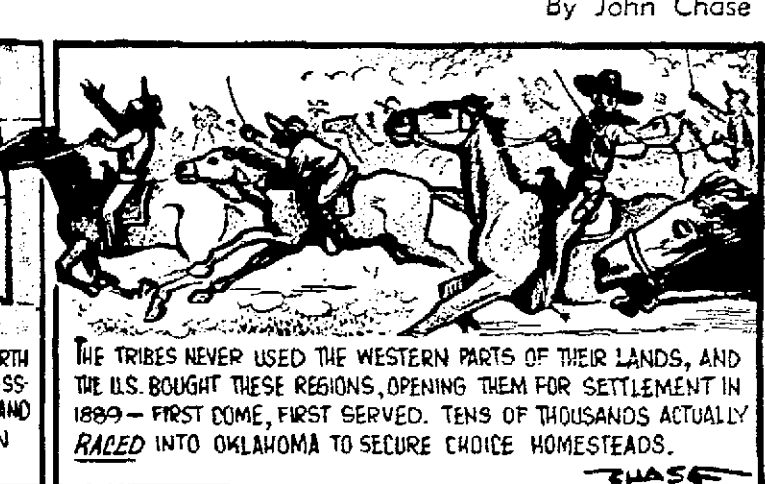

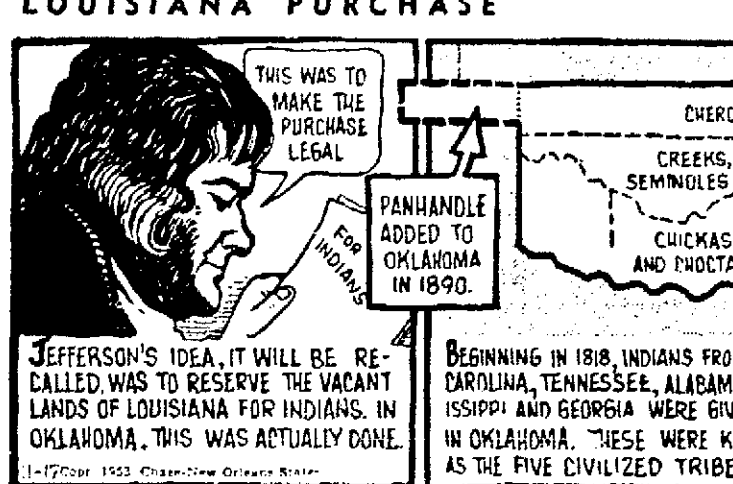

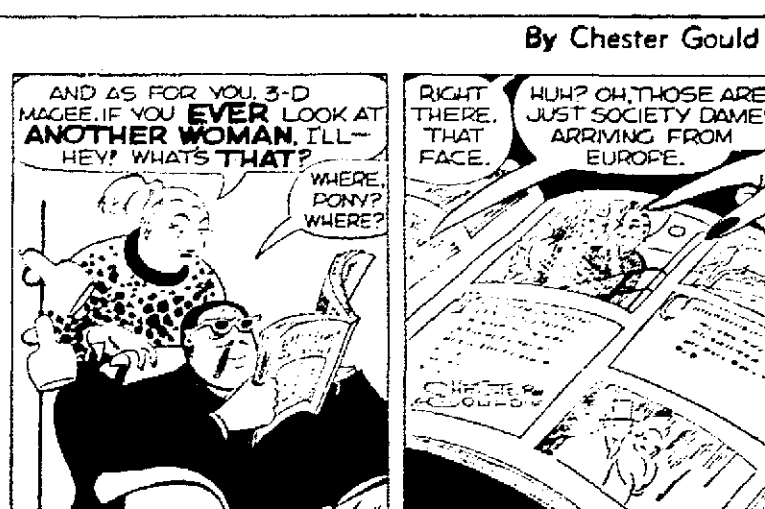

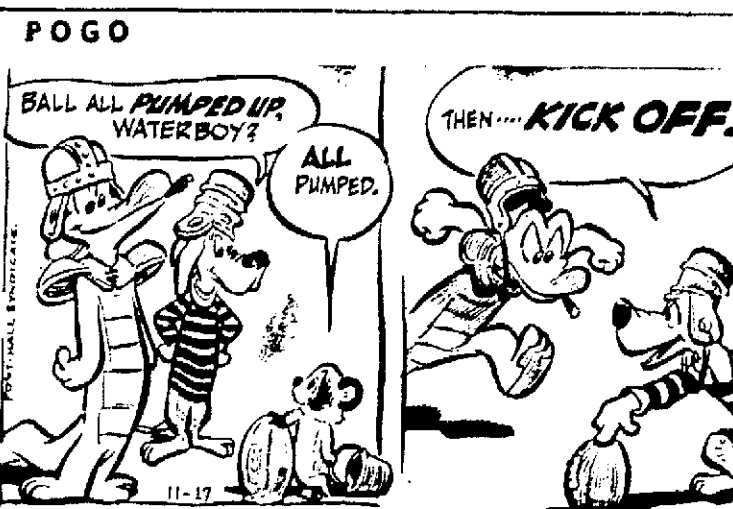

MASTER-MIND DIAL gives you two separate completely automatic washing cycles!

One for Regular Fabrics — another for Fine Fabrics with a shorter washing, rinsing, damp-drying period. You can skip or repeat... lengthen or shorten any part of either washing cycle. Positive Fill! Just set the dial and walk away. Never before such automatic washer flexibility!
